CHAMBER SET FOR WAGE ROW IN CONVENTION

Edward A. Filene, Boston Merchant, Backs Couzens Stand.

URGES HIGH SCALE, MASS PRODUCTION

Washington Man One of 16 Nominated as New Director.

Atlantic City, N. J., April 28 (U.P.). The wage cut controversy was brought into the open on the eve of the meeting of the United States Chamber of Commerce tonight by a strong declaration against any reductions by Edward A. Filene, Boston merchant, and economist, who long has been prominent in affairs of the organization.

Mr. Filene's firm stand, set forth in a formal statemetn, aligns him with Senator James Couzens (Republican), Michigan, and makes it likely that the controversy will be brought into the open in the three-day sessions here, beginning tomorrow, despite the apparent intention of the leaders to outlaw it. Mr. Couzens has demanded that the chamber consider the subject, but failed in his desire for an invitation to come here and inject it.

The Boston merchatn declared that unemployment is a challenge to American business that can not be ignored and that no question coming before the meeting here is of such "grave import."

Refers to Woods' Action.

"I am for a program that comprehends high wages, mass production and mass distribution, which, in turn, brings high consumption with low prices," he said, adding that unemployment is "only bad business thinking."

Mr. Filene referred to the retirement of Col. Arthur Woods as head of President Hoover's emergency employment committee, which it was reported was due to opposition of Mr. Hoover to a large program of public works advocated by Mr. Woods, as emphasizing the job business men have before them.

"Col. Woods," he said, "is a man of action who refuses to follow a road which leads windingly or not at all."

He cited as another significant event which commands the attention of the business men at this time, the manifesto of the National Council of Christian Associations, urging affiliation of its membership with the Socialist party or with some new party with a socialist program.

Aggressive Man Quits.

Faircloth Guilty In Maryland Case

Convicted in Baltimore of Funds Misapplication; Sentence Delayed.

Special to The Washington Post.

Baltimore, Md., April 28.—John G. Faircloth, former president of the Mayflower Publishing Co., of Washington, was found guilty by a jury today in the United States district court of aiding in the misapplication of funds of the First National Bank of Mount Rainier, Md. The verdict recommended mercy. Sentence was deferred pending application by Faircloth for appeal.

During the trial, which lasted four days, the Government held that Faircloth aided Clarence F. Shatz, former cashier of the bank, in misapplying the institution's funds by a "kiting" procedure in which checks were passed through several banks. Shatz, who also was treasurer of the Mayflower Co., is charged with actual misapplication of $39,000, and is to be given a hearing next week.

The Government charged also that funds from inactive accounts of the bank were transferred to that of the Mayflower concern to take care of overdrafts. Faircloth's counsel held that his client had no knowledge of Shatz's transactions, as he was busy in Washington attending to the affairs of his company.

Gamblers Questioned In Douthitt Attack

Police Also Seek Two Women in Attempt to Learn Motive for Mystery Assault; Publisher May Face Grand Jury.

Detectives are delving into reputed dealings between gamblers and Harry N. Douthitt, injured editor of the "Bluecoat," in an attempt to learn the motive for the attack on the publisher who was reported last night out of danger at Casualty Hospital. Several sportsmen and gamblers in the downtown section were questioned yesterday by detectives.

Another tangent in the investigation which police are following is the possibility of a woman being indirectly involved in the assault. Detectives were last night trying to locate two women friends of Douthitt, one of whom is said to have been employed by him as secretary.

Meanwhile, District Attorney Leo A. Rover announced that when Douthitt recovers he will be called before a grand jury to tell what he knows about existnce of an "ice bill" in the First Precinct, which Douthitt said he heard totals $3,000 a month, and is used to 'keep things cool for the gamblers."

Douthitt has made several conflicting statements regarding th emotive for the attack upon him, although he sticks to his original story as to the manner in which his assailants assaulted him and the manner in which he met them as insurance agents.

There is no direct evidence from which the district attorney's office or the Police Department may proceed. All that Douthitt has said regarding the "ice bill" is in the nature of gossip. In view of this, the police and district attorney's office decided the best course would be to lay the entire case before a grand jury.

The young woman employed in a secretarial capacity by Douthitt has

BOTH ARMIES CLAIM VICTORY AT FUNCHAL

Rebel Victory Disputed as Nationals Deny Loss of 100 Prisoners.

Lisbon, April 28 (A.P.).—Both sides were claiming victory tonight in the conflict between the rebel junta at Funchal, Madeira, and the government expeditionary force which went from here to put down the rebellion.

Following an ultimatum to the rebels threatening an attack on Funchal by government forces unless the rebellion was ended early tonight, a battle was reported in which the government gunboat Ibo, after having been fired upon by the rebel batteries, returned the fire. Rebel batteries were declared to have been silenced and the rebel positions abandoned on shore.

The revolutionary government, however, issued a bulletin after the battle declaring the city was in festival with the population acclaiming Gen. Souza Dias, rebel leader.

The rebels broadcast the following official bulletin:

"Regarding yesterday's military operations, it having come to our knowledge that one of the ships of the dictatorship was willing to come over to us with all the troops she carried, the Carvalho Araujo was permitted to approach. Orders were issued that she should anchor in front of Machico and that the soldiers should disembark at a spot protected by our artillery.

"Hidden by a morning fog, a gunboat began fire, making disembarkation impossible. Later at Canniçel the dictatorship forces landed and were energetically repelled by a small military force encamped there. The dictatorship forces were compelled to retire with a great loss of life, leaving 100 prisoners.

"During an artillery duel the Marconi wireless station was hit several times, but it should be in working order in two or three days. After the engagement the civil population rushed into the streets, waving red and national flags. As soon as the result of the first contact with the Constitutional troops, which cost us only nine prisoners, was known, there was an enormous popular manifestation and the crowds marched to the military governor's house, acclaiming Gen. Souza Dias. The city is in festival."

Its ultimatum ignored, the government announced here that it had opened its long-planned attack on the rebel garrison at Funchal.

The declaration of the rebels in their radio account of yesterday's fighting, especially the claim that the government troops had been compelled to retire with loss of life and 100 prisoners, was entirely at variance with previous news of the revolt reaching here. The report yesterday said the government troops had attached the wireless station at Canniçel because it was used by the rebels to broadcast false reports.

SKINNER IN SOLITARY AFTER FIGHT IN JAIL

Psychiatrist Examines Wife Slayer After Attack on Baker, Cell Mate.

Sidney A. Skinner, under indictment for the murder of his wife, has been placed in solitary confinement at the District Jail following an attack on his cellmate, Albert C. Baker, also under indictment for killing his wife.

Lieut. Col. William L. Peak, superintendent of the jail, had Skiner examined by Dr. Percy A. Hickling, the noted psychiatrist. Col. Peak last night said he was awaiting a report on the case, which would probably result in sending the man to St. Elizabeths Hospital.

The attack occurred early Friday morning in their cell in the District Jail. Baker told Col. Peak that he was awakened by blows on his body.

He awakened to find Skinner punching him. As he attempted to defend himsel, Skinner picked up a stool to strike him. By this time guards had arrived and restrained Skinner.

Soon after the attack Skinner is said to have inquired why he was separated from his cellmate. He disclaimed any knowledge of having struck Baker. Skinner, who was a clerk in the Department of State, showed the same loss of memory after he stabbed his wife, Mrs. Dorothy Skinner, with a carving knife

Crazed Man's Shot Misses Policeman

Patrolman Kelly Escapes; Gun Wielder Wounds Wife, Kills Self.

Patrolman W. W. Kelly, of the Tenth Precinct, narrowly missed death last night when a crazed colored man fired two shots at him as he dashed into an apartment on Columbia road near Eleventh street northwest, where the colored man wounded his wife and then took his own life.

As Kelly crashed through the door, two shots whistled by his head. One imbedded itself in a door and the other in a wall.

Kelly called for reserves, and while awaiting their arrival with tear gas bombs, another shot was heard in the apartment. elly entered and found Joshua H. Jones, 35 years old, with a bullet in his heart. Nearby lay his wife, Lucinda, 4 years old, with three bullets in her body, inflicted by her husband during a domestic quarrel.

Boy Hero of Bus Tragedy Will Visit Hoover Today

Bryan Untiedt, 13, Who Guarded Snowbound Motor, in Which 5 Children Lost Lives, to Arrive From Colorado With Government Official.

(Associated Press.)

Bryan Untiedt, hero of the Colorado school bus tragedy last March, will arrive in Washington today to be the guest of President and Mrs. Hoover at the White House.

The 13-year-old boy, who in an effort to save the lives of fellow students marooned in a snow-bound bus removed his own outer clothing to keep his companions warm, will be at the White House with the King and Queen of Siam. Their majesties will dine with President and Mrs. Hoover tonight.

Even though Bryan may not dine at the formal State dinner, he will be able to find a convenient door somewhere through which he can watch the ceremony and see all the gold braid.

No set plans have been made to entertain the boy. It was thought likely, however, that Mrs. Hoover would take him on a sightseeing tour of the city, as she often takes other guests who come to the Executive Mansion.

The visit could not be made earlier, following President Hoover's invitation, because of presidential engagements and the fact that Bryan had not fully recovered from his experience with the blizzard.

Bryan left Denver Sunday night, accompanied by a Government official, whose name was not disclosed at the White House, who happened to be coming to Washington at that time.

The schoolboy hero was invited by Mr. Hoover to be his guest, shortly after the Chief Executive returned from Porto Rico and read accounts of the blizzard.

The bus carried 21 children, 5 of whom froze to death after the driver, Carl Miller, had gone to seek aid. Among them was Untiedt's younger brother. In spite of this the boy, who had been placed in charge by Miller, continued his desperate efforts to keep the children from falling asleep and freezing.

OIL WELL FIRE KILLS 12 MEN; 10 ARE INJURED

5 Persons Believed to Be Fatally Burned Near Gladewater, Tex.

RECOVERY OF BODIES BLOCKED BY FLAMES

Ambulances Are Summoned From Adjoining Towns; Spark Is Cause.

Gladewater, Tex., April 28 (A.P.).—Twelve men were killed late today when the wild Sinclair No. 1 Cole oil well, 2 miles from here, exploded from a spark caused by friction.

Ten others were injured, five probably fatally. Most of the injured were removed to a hospital at Longview.

Tom Cole, part owner of the well, said he saw a spark caused by the friction of lowering tools into the well. He turned to run for his life, but got only a few feet away before the explosion dashed him to the ground, searing his back and head.

Tonight the bodies still lay about the flaming pyre, with all available ambulances employed in removing the injured men to Gladewater and Longview.

Flames 200 Feet in Air.

Four bodies lay in the slush pit, an earthen depression intended to catch drilling refuse, and two others were within 100 yards of the well. Flames from the billowing torch roared 200 feet in the air and could be seen from Gladewater. It appeared that identification of the dead would be delayed for hours and effected by a process of elimination.

Ambulances were called to the scene from Gladewater, Longview and Tyler.

None of the injured was able to tell what happened before the explosion occurred. The column of flame was nearly an acre in diameter.

No Danger to Others.

It was believed there was no danger that other wells in the field would become ignited.

The dead were believed to include the following missing workmen:

Roy Blankenship, Seminole, Okla.
Bob Murdoch, Seminole.
Bill Arroun, address unknown.
Virgil Wools, Oklahoma City.
George Allbright, Carnegie City, Pa.

Ship Sinks After Fire Caused by Cigarette

Lisbon, Portugal, April 28 (A.P.).—The Dutch steamer Ares, which caught fire from a deckhand's cigarette in Lisbon Harbor today, later sank in the shallow water of the Taous River.

No one was injured, but thirteen passengers lost all their personal effects. The vessel and her cargo of nitrates from Curacao are considered a total loss.

St. Lawrence Power Bill Becomes Law

Albany, N. Y., April 28 (A.P.).—Gov. Roosevelt signed the Cornaire waterpower bill today, committing the State to a $171,000,000 hydroelectric development of the St. Lawrence River at Massena Point.

The chief executive did not indicate when he would name the five trustees who will call out the mandate of the law.

PONCE DE LEON DEAL ENTERS RHEEM QUIZ

Vice President of Company Says "Quite a Few" of Holders Were Paid.

A story of refinancing, released deeds of trust and unpaid noteholders, closely paralleling the history of the Shoreham Building, the Westchester and the Broadmoor Apartments, yesterday was told of the Ponce de Leon Apartments, 4514 Connecticut avenue, by Edmund D. Rheem, vice president of bankrupt Swartzell, Rheem & Hensey Co.

Facing creditors at the company offices, Rheem testified that "quite a few" Ponce de Leon noteholders were paid after the original $375,000 trust on this property was replaced by another on November 1, 1929.

Counsel advised him to claim immunity when Attorney William E. Richardson asked how many notes were paid in a specific period following the trust release. Referee Fred J. Eden ruled that the question should be answered by reference to company records. Richardson did not insist and the question remained unanswered.

The attorney developed that $324,000 was deposited at Federal-American Bank to effect the release on November 1, 1929, bringing the company's balance there to $386,000. He brought out that $84,673 was drawn out of the account the following day, some of this amount going to pay dividends on Swartzell, Rheem & Hensey Co. stock. He developed that a $50,000 second-trust note made by the Abner-Drury Co. was received by the company, in addition to the $334,000 for release of the original trust.

Other developments yesterday were:

Referee Eden anounced appointment of Frederic B. Pyle, Morton J. Luchs and John F. Maury, to appraise all real estate owned by the Swartzell, Rheem & Hensey estate.

Second Vice President J. Newton Brewer testified he was acting under instructions from Rheem when he settled for the release of the original

Reds' Wheat Dumping Held Not Insuperable

Sir Josiah Stamp, Trade Expert, Explains Surplus Is Due to Russia's Return to World Market Able to Do Without Her.

New York, April 28 (A.P.).—Return of Russia to world markets, Sir Josiah Stamp, British economist said today, is bound to create difficulties for grain exporting nations, but none that may not be overcome.

Dumping of Russian wheat in the export market, the trade expert declared, will not prove any insuperable obstacle to economic recovery, but still is a serious problem.

"Remember," he advised, "Russia has been out of the world market for years and now she has come back. That is bound to create difficulties, especially in view of how Russia has come back."

Sir Josiah said that while Russia had been out of foreign trade other countries had built theirs in grain and other commodities to care for the drop in world supply. "The creation of an enormous surplus," he added, "naturally followed Russia's return to a market whtich had been built up to do without her."

Stagnation in the export grain market, Sir Josiah said, is a big item in the present depression. He added that he hoped some means of ridding Canada and the United States of the surplus would be found. He made no suggestion of a means.

Sir Josiah refused comment on the findings of the royal grain commission which will be embodied in a report being prepared here, the report, he said, will be completed by tomorrow night and forwarded to Ottawa.

The end of the present economic depression in Canada and the United States will not be in sight before the end of the next three months, he said. It probably will end in both countries simultaneously, he added, although recovery in the United States may be slightly more rapid than in Canada.

"I do not want to say that the depression will end in three months," he said, "but I will say it can't end before that time. Some time ago I said it would not end before May. It has not ended and I now believe it can not do so before the end of another three months."

Sir Josiah sails tomorrow for England after having served as chairman of the royal grain commission inquiring into the conduct of trading in grain futures in its relations to the welfare of the Canadian farmer.

King and Queen Display Genuine Pleasure on Arrival.

Home on Massachusetts Avenue Thrown Open to Noted Visitors.

By J. B. McDONNELL.

The King of Siam, a little man, spare of frame and small of stature, but carrying about him an aura of inexorable authority despite his wide smile, arrived in Washington yesterday.

He was accompanied by his queen, whose manner seemed somewhat like that of a run-away bride being introduced to her in-laws, but certainly had nothing of subservient plea for approval, rather a genuine pleasure with her in-laws and complete confidence, they would realize just what kind of a bride the son had taken unto himself.

The smiles of the king and queen were wide and genuine, once they got beyond the stiltedness of formal reception, but even in these there seemed to be a warmth which was more than mere formality.

The young "career" men of the State Department, of especial ability to pour tea and wear clothes and talk small talk appropriately, surrounded the visiting majestic entourage and kept the public from encroaching on the royal domain, which was set up in the home of Larz Anderson at 2118 Massachusetts avenue northwest.

An absolute monarch who traveled 11,000 miles to the predominant world republic for medical services, King Prajadhipok, came smiling into Washington and yielded himself to the dictatorship of his physicians.

His program for today was changed. He will not go to Arlington Cemetery, nor will he go to Mount Vernon, as was proposed in the official program. He will be represented at both places by the Prince and Princess Svasti. The doctors explained that the king needed a rest.

There was a tea at the Anderson home when the royal party arrived. Mrs. Henry P. Fletcher, wife of the former American Ambassador to Japan, acted as hostess in the name of Mrs. Hoover.

The Anderson house has a driveway barred by gates. Possibly King Prajadhipok and his queen and other members of his royal entourage received a shock when they entered the house, for confronting them was a bronze statue of Buddha.

To right and left are entrances into the house. Over the right entrance is the painted inscription:

"Through this door come
And welcome be,
Our friends and guests
Most cordially."

Over the other doorway is inscribed the thought that those who entered through it were those who shared a part in the family.

Vice President Curtis and Secretary of State Stimson met the royal visitors at Union Station.

Their majesties and those who ac-

ITALO-FRENCH PACT MAY BE CANCELED

Unofficial Proposal Made to Allow Unilateral Naval Statements.

Paris, April 28 (A.P.).—Difficulty in arriving at an agreement on the exact meaning of the Italo-French naval limitation treaty today led to an unofficial proposal from quarters close to the ministry of marine, that France drop the treaty with Italy and each country make unilateral statements as to her naval needs.

France would declare for a navy of 640,000 tons under the suggestion, all units being replaced upon reaching the age limit. An annual construction program of approximately 40,000 tons would be necessary until all superannuated ships are replaced.

Foreign Minister Aristide Briand's outline of difficulties of the Italo-French treaty before the council of ministers this morning is considered to have left the way more widely open for this proposal than previously.

After today's lengthy meeting of the council, Premier Pierre Laval said naval experts were still studying Great Britain's reply to France's recent naval proposals. The counter-proposals embodied in London's note have not been made public and Italy's answer is not expected for a few days.

The proposal for a unilateral statement argued that this would not disturb the London naval treaty, as it would follow closely the construction and replacement allowed under the terms for the first years of the Franco-Italian agreement. It is suggested, however, in order to make the situation clear, to state the entire program for nine years, which would bring France to 1940 whin the same tonnage of 640,000 as now, but without the superannuated units.

The unilateral statement should be informal, it is advanced, and should include a safeguard clause providing against Italy attempting to reach parity in fact.

A simultaneous understanding with England regarding the number of submarines and the size of guns also would be considered desirable.

This is the first time since the London naval conference that there has been open talk of France ceasing efforts for an understanding with Italy on the subject.

Two Robbers Hold Up Bank Near Wheeling

Wheeling, W. Va., April 28 (A.P.).—Two masked men held up the Morristown State Bank at Morristown, Ohio, west of here, today and escaped with $3,000.

They fled in the direction of Bethesda.

'Missionary's' Mask Lifted, Revealing Former Convict

Distomiasis Victim, Shocked War Veteran Subject to Hallucinations, Admits He Served Prison Terms in California and Ohio for Forgery.

Cleveland, Ohio, April 28 (A.P.).—A man who posed as a missionary, police said, tonight was disclosed as a former convict. He is Ralph H. Thurber who, for the last week, has been in a hospital claiming to be suffering from a strange malady.

He admitted today, the officers said, that he had a prison record. Police asserted he had served prison terems for forgery in both Ohio and California, and had had other brushes with the law during the time he claimed he had done religious work in the Orient.

Thurber admitted that he served a one to three year term in Ohio Penitentiary on a Cleveland forgery charge, under the name of Louis A. Reppelle. Detective David Cowles said after talking with him at City Hospital, where he is believed in serious condition with a mysterious malady. Police records show Reppelle was arrested April 25, 1927, in Toledo, brought to Cleveland, sentenced August 16, on a charge of issuing checks to defraud a hotel, and paroled March 15, 1930.

Police said another portion of the "mission service" from which Thurber claims he is on furlough was taken up from June 19, 1920, to September 3, 1921, when, according to Bertillon records a "Ralph H. Thurber" served a sentence at San Quentin, (Calif.) Prison. He was sentenced from San Diego, where it was charged he issued checks in the name "Rev. Barnes."

Records show he was paroled September 3, 1921, and discharged from parole October 19, 1922. At San Diego he was said to have admitted deserting from Camp Fabian, Tex.

The records also show that a Ralph H. Thurber was arrested in San Francisco, February 26, 1920, but acquitted of a charge of attempted robbery, and that while Reppelle was awaiting trial here in 192, Buffalo

MOVE TO OUST WALKER KILLED BY ROOSEVELT

Governor Drops Charges Mayor Encouraged City Corruption.

FOES WILL CONTINUE FIGHT FOR REMOVAL

Executive Says Complaints Lacked Justification for Further Action.

New York, April 28 (A.P.).—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt today dismissed the charges on which the city affairs committee asked him to oust Mayor James J. Walker from office.

The governor declared he did not find "sufficient justification" in the complaint for further action.

He said it was a fundamental principle of State government that the people of various communities elect their own officials. The greatest caution should be exercised, he declared, before the governor interfered "to annul the deliberate decision of the voters."

Accused of Encouraging Corruption.

The mayor was accused of condoning incompetence and of encouraging corruption in formal charges filed March 18, by the Rev. Dr. John Haynes Holmes and Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, chairman and vice chairman of the city affairs committee.

"Legally as well as morally," they said, "the mayor is culpable for the corruption of his subordinates, the breakdown of his department of government, the collapse of law and order and the prevalence of low standards of public life under his administration."

The governor held that when charges are based on the actions of subordinates it must "clearly appear" that the acts complained of were known to the mayor and that he failed to stop them.

News of the governor's decision reached Mayor Walker as he was presiding at a meeting of the board of estimate.

"I have no comment to make at this moment," he said. "This does not preclude me from making some comment at another time."

His political colleague, John F. Curry, leader of Tammany Hall, made this comment: "The decision was inevitable. It is only another vindication of Mayor Walker's splendid and unparalleled record."

Foes Will Continue Fight.

The Rev. Dr. Holmes announced he and his colleagues would not give up their fight.

"The action of the governor, taken without giving fair opportunity to the city affairs committee to reply to the slanderous personal charges of the mayor against its chairman and vice chairman, or to refute the inaccuracies, distortions and suppressions of data contained in the mayor's defense, brings to an end the first chapter in the committee's attempt to remove Mayor Walker from office," he said.

"We open a once the second chapter in a special meeting called this afternoon. What Gov. Roosevelt has not found in our charges, Judge Seabury will. (Samuel Seabury, counsel for a legislative commission, is conducting a city-wide investigation into the administration)."

"A fight against Tammany has always been a long fight, a patient fight, a determined fight," he added. "The city affairs committee has expected such a fight and will keep at it until the victory for decency and honesty in government has been won in this city."

King's Recent Ills Declared Serious

Paper Asserts George's Sickness Was Graver Than Revealed.

London, April 28 (A.P.).—The Evening Standard said today in its column entitled a "Londoner's Diary" that King George's recent illness was more serious than was generally known.

"Now that convalescense has been reached to the extent of dining out of his bedroom," the account said, "there can be no harm in revealing that his majesty's illness was more severe than was generally supposed."

The announcement that the king will not return to London next Monday is no surprise to those in the royal entourage, the newspaper said.

Those who have not written ads for this contest, here is what we want you to do. First, read the rules of the contest, which appear on this page, very carefully. Then acquaint yourself with the participating concerns with which you are not familiar. Get a large sheet of paper, write the name of the concern about which you are writing the ad in the left hand corner and your name on the reverse side of the sheet. Then write an ad about the concern. Make your ad a poem, a witty phrase, a snappy slogan or in any form easiest for you to write. If your ads do not win one week keep writing more and more each day and send them in. Do not become discouraged at any time. The more you write, the greater your chances of winning. Do not forget, the only people who can not win prizes are those who do not submit their ads.

Idea Is What Counts.

Grammar, punctuation and layout are not considered by the judges; the idea is what counts. Is it original and apt? Different judges are named at the close of every ad-writing period. Each group of judges has a different idea as to the form of the best ads. If your ad hasn't won a prize, send more in and it may be just the kind the next group of judges may select.

If you haven't read the list of special prizes some of these concerns are giving weekly and at the close of this contest, May 27, do so at once. You will find them published every day. New prizes are added almost daily.

The contest is open to every one except professional ad writers and newspaper employes. Every one competing is an amateur, like yourself, so, all on the same footing. Come on, get started. Write your ads today and win that first cash prize, or that $165 ABC Washer or one of those beautiful strands of Triple X Richelieu pearls (three will be given during this combined third and fourth week period), or at least one of those 525 merchandise prizes. There will be hosts of prizes for every one. Remember, all you need to do is write as many ads as you can daily and send them to The Post-Zain Ad Test Editor at The Washington Post.

Should Be Simple.

Underwood & Underwood portrait studios give you a great opportunity to show your skill. Writing a good ad for them should be simple. Use sentiment and heart appeal, but be sure to include the reasons why a prospective purchaser should choose this studio. Their artists are the country's best. But be brief. Long sentences or paragraphs are not usually read in advertising and we suggest that you make them short. Use dignified language and keep your meaning clear. Write one now while you have this material before you. Many things are done best on the spur of the moment.

Every one wears shoes. Try an ad for the Edmonston Shoe Co., the best in shoes. Tell about their Foot Form Shoes. Tell why this make is so distinctive; why the woman who wants both style and comfort patronizes the Edmonston Shoe Co. Explain how foot fatigue is barred by an unique patented construction. Deal on the importance of wearing the right kind of shoes and tell why footwear sold by the Edmonston Shoe Co. is correct.

The Arthur Jordan piano is an easy subject for Post-Zain contestants. This is one of Washington's largest and exclusive piano and radio stores. For more than twenty years Jordan's has enjoyed a reputation of selling only the finest in musical instruments. Tell about the classic elegance of the Mazon & Hamlin, Marshall & Wendell and Chickering pianos you find on their floors. Write about their complete line of Brunswick Radios. You have listened to many of these fine Brunswick radios and your fingers should release an ad about them. This "home of the musicians," as this house of music is frequently termed, has a courteous staff of 40 salespeople to show these famous Brunswick radios, products of the Warner Bros. of picture fame. Be sure your ad explains the Jordan budget plan of payment.

Complete Heating Service.

Original and apt ads can be written about the L. P. Steuart & Bro. and win many prizes for you. The excellent complete heating service they offer should give a theme for a prize-winning ad. Tell about their anthracite coal and how certain qualities are selected most suitable for their heating plants. Incorporate in the ad the pleasure of dealing with these experienced and progressive heat experts, whose advice to you is based on science and years of experience. Tell about their vacuum cleaning service for your furnace and flues which removes dirt, soot scale and rust. Don't forget the oil-burning department giving 24-hour service in delivery and efficient operation by thoroughly trained mechanics. Tell about their up-to-date oil-heating equipment being the most modern equipment obtainable. To sum it all up, whether you require the best quality of coal, prompt oil deliverey of the proper grade or oil burner service—all of these needs can be taken care of by these complete heating experts.

As an added incentive, L. P. Steuart & Bros. announces that to the home owner writing the best ad on their superior anthracite coal, 5 tons of this coal will be stored in the writer's bin. Also, to the home owner writing the best ad about their oil burners during this contest, one $375 Fluid Heat Oil Burner will be given as the reward. Are these prizes worth winning, we ask you? Buy a carton of pencils and a gross of tablets if necessary, but make every effort to win one of the prizes. Wait until you see the picture of this Fluid Heat Oil Burner we are going to publish in a few days. Or even better than that, go to the L. P. Steuart & Bros., located at Sixth and K, and see the real article.

Picture to Appear Soon.

We also want to announce that a picture of that wonderful $73 English lounge chair, which would grace any home and which the P. J. Nee Furniture Co. is giving the writer of the best ad about their concern at the close of this contest, will appear soon in a future issue of The Post, also. One look at the chair and you'll agree that it will be worth "burning the midnight oil" to write ads about this concern in The Post-Zain Contest.

We suggest that before you write an ad about Wilkins Coffee you try a cup of this delicious "Just Wonderful" coffee. You will not only find your disposition greatly improved, but you will find your thinking facilities functioning more readily.

Don't delay another day. Send in those bright ideas which will win prizes. Don your "thinking cap" and get busy writing ads. Undoubtedly each week there are some who, on reading the prize-winning ad say, "Why I had a better idea than that." May we remind you that ideas don't win prizes unless they are put on paper and sent to the editor of The Post-Zain Ad-Writing Contest at The Washington Post. Let him have your ideas in form of ads each and every day.

RULES FOR CONTEST

1—$10,000 in prizes to be distributed over seven weeks of amateur ad writing.

2—$1,000 in cash will be given for the best ad written by an amateur during the entire Post-Zain ad-writing campaign. To compete for this prize it will be necessary for contestants to write at least one ad about each of the 35 firms participating in the ad contest.

3—Grand weekly award of $100 will be given for the best Ad, written during the third and fourth periods of the ad-writing contest.

4—Fifteen merchandise prizes for each of the 35 concerns will be given during the third and fourth weeks of the campaign.

5—Ads for the third and fourth weeks of the Post-Zain ad-writing campaign must be received prior to noon, Wednesday, May 6.

6—Ads submitted in competition for the grand award of $1,000 must be received prior to midnight, May 27.

7—Any one anywhere may compete for the prizes with the exception of newspaper employes and members of the advertising profession.

8—There are no obligations. No coupons to clip, no entrance fees to pay, no subscriptions to buy. One person may submit as many ads as he chooses. The Post-Zain ad-writing contest may be entered at any time. Ads may be written about one or all concerns.

9—Write your ideas on one side only of a sheet of paper at least twice the size of a postcard. Place the name of the concern about which you are writing in the upper left-hand corner of the page. Place your own name and address, also telephone number, on the reverse of the advertisement and the envelope. Your contribution may be a slogan, a poem, a regular advertisement, a letter of testimonial, or an essay.

10—Winning advertisements will be selected by a committee of advertising experts. In the event of a tie like awards will be made to both.

11—All advertisements received become the property of the concerns about which they are written.

Ad-Writing Suggestions.

Prizes are given for ideas, not for grammar, spelling, punctuation, art work or layout.

Your ideas are likely to be new and original; your ideas may win one of the prizes.

If you are not familiar with the advertisers about whom you are asked to write ads, study their service and merchandise; visit their shops, ask questions, and then jot down your ideas simply. Be brief and to the point.

If you can write a letter, you can write an ad. Get members of your family and your friends interested. Encourage them to write winning ads. Send in your amateur Ad. to the Post-Zain Ad-Contest Editor, Washington Post, Washington, D. C.

GIRLS JOT DOWN ZAIN ADS

No matter how hot the weather was, these girls were thinking of next winter when they dropped into the Washington Gas Light Co. at 411 Tenth street northwest to gather material for amateur ads on automatic gas heat.

Left to right—Antoinette Edwards, 1323 Taylor street northwest; Gaynell Smallwood, 1301 Fifteenth street northwest, and Isabelle West, 6809 Laurel street northwest—are jotting down notes on the Bryant gas furnace, shown in the picture. For the best ad on automatic gas heat the Washington Gas Light Co. will give away a Janitrol Gas Conversion burner, which can be installed in an ordinary furnace. The Janitrol operates on the same principle as the Bryant.

The girls in the picture have definite ideas on what they would do with that $1,000 grand prize offered by The Post for the best ad in the Zain Contest. What with Paris gowns, sport roadsters, cosmetics, &c., what couldn't they do with that grand prize? And they're determined to win it too.

ing the idle and on the other hand, an idealistic group under stress of the same crisis of unemployment, turns to socialism," Mr. Filene declared.

"If we, as the representatives of the Nation's business, now assembled here, do not deal with this problem concretely and constructively, then, indeed, we shall justify the sort of criticism recently broadcast by Senator Couzens in which he was quoted as saying that business will have only itself to blame, if the Government steps in and undertakes drastic and compulsory measures."

Mr. Filene and Mr. Couzens are friends and have had some correspondence on compulsory State employment insurance which both favor.

Mr. Filene's attitude represents that of the more liberal business men among the 3,000 gathered here and this group may throw the wage and unemployment question into the convention in a dramatic way, especially since there is a frank spirit of inquiry manifest in the convention this year, due to the business depression. Many conservative business men are ready to consider proposals they would never have considered two years ago, it is evident.

16 Directors Nominated.

A preliminary to the convention which will open tomorrow with addresses by President William Butler Worth and Secretary of Commerce Robert P. Lamont, was a meeting here today of the Congress of Industries representing more than 500,000 smaller and medium sized industrial units.

The congress, which was organized today on a permanent basis, adopted resolutions urging revision of the antitrust laws to legalize trade practice agreements which they now impose on themselves voluntarily.

Sixteen directors were nominated today by the council of the United States Chamber of Commerce, their nomination being tantamount to election. The election will take place later. They included: Herbert J. Tily, president, Strawbridge & Clothier, Philadelphia, Pa.; John H. Hann, president, Capital Traction Co., Washington, D. C.; Mills B. Lane, chairman of board, Citizens & Southern National Bank, Savannah, Ga.; Nathan Adams, president, First National Bank, Dallas, Tex.

Previous to the attack he had been under treatment for a nervous breakdown.

not been at her R street home for several days. It was said by her sister that it was not unusual for her to remain away for several days at a time.

Douthitt's secretry, police believe, will be able to give them first-hand information regarding Douthitt's business dealings and particularly with regard ot a red-haired woman with whom Douthitt is reputed to have been friendly and whom police are anxious to question.

Police of the First Precinct ascribe Douthitt's charges to efforts of police to discreed it in the Bluecoat by informing merchants it was not an official publication of the Police Department.

City Couples Lead In Birth Control

Childless Marriages Are Found to Predominate in Large Centers.

New York, April 28 (A.P.).—There are almost as many childless marriages in cities as in rural districts, the Milbank Memorial Fund reported today after a survey of 69,620 marriages.

Among women between the ages of 40 and 49, 16 per cent of the city-dwellers were found to be childless. The same age group among country women showed 9 per cent without offspring. Investigation found childless marriages two and a half times as numerous among professional people in cities as among farm laborers.

"It is suggested by collateral evidence," says the report, "that, because of the greater expense of having children in cities and in view of the higher standards of living of the professional classes, birth control is practiced to a greater extent among the so-called 'upper' classes."

MITCHELL SPIKES WOODCOCK RUMOR

Attorney General Denies Dry Chief Will Resign to Become Judge.

(Associated Press.)

Any possibility that Prohibition Director Woodcock would retire from his post to accept a Federal judgeship was dispelled yesterday by Attorney General Mitchell.

Woodcock has been mentioned prominently to fill a vacancy on the Federal bench in Baltimore, where he formerly was United States attorney. Before starting on a tour of the West recently he said he would make no effort to gain this post, but that appointment to it would be "welcome."

"We need him too badly where he is," the Attorney General said. "He has done such a fine job as director of prohibition that he undoubtedly would remain. If he could be spared he certainly would be eligible for such a post."

Mitchell said Judge Morris A. Soper, United States district judge at Baltimore, had been urged for the post of circuit judge left vacant by the recent death of Edmund Waddill, of Richmond.

"Soper has been widely recommended for elevation to the post of circuit judge," Mitchell said. "In fact, no one else has been seriously supported for this position in the Fourth Circuit. No recommendation on the appointment, however, has been sent to President Hoover."

The Attorney General said rumors that he would retire from his post in the near future were incorrect. He said he had no intention at this time of retiring during the present administration.

BURNING OF CROSS LINKED TO ARREST

Merrifield Demonstration Regarded as Protest in Brent Case.

A large fiery cross, reminiscent of the days of the Ku Klux Klan, was burned shortly before midnight Monday evening on the edge of the Lee highway in Merrifield, between the homes of C. R. Moran and R. F. Salisbury. Spectators said yesterday that a number of cars containing about 50 men in civilian clothes drove to the scene, leisurely erected the cross and then ignited it.

As the flames died down the men drove away without creating any other disturbance.

Rumors in Fairfax County yesterday were that the burning of the cross was an aftermath of excitement caused by the arrest of Logan Brent, 42, colored, of Merrifield, early last week, on charges of contributing to the delinquency of a 16-year-old white girl. Brent was arrested April 20 on a search warrant charging possession of intoxicating liquor. While police were searching his store, Brent attacked one officer with a meat cleaver.

The next day the charge involving the girl was placed against Brent by Commonwealth's Attorney Wilson M. Farr, and Brent was removed to the Alexandria Jail for safe keeping.

A story in a Fairfax County paper declared that B. F. Salisbury had endeavored to have Brent released, and failing in this, engaged an attorney to defend him. Salisbury said last night that on the night Brent was arrested he did not know the circumstances or the nature of the charges, and, assuming Brent only had been arrested on a liquor charge, was willing to arrange bond to have him released. Brent was indebted to him, he said, and his action was only to protect his money. Salisbury denied he had engaged an attorney for Brent. He declared that as soon as he learned the nature of the charges against Brent, he did nothing further in his behalf, but on advice of counsel, caused Brent as assign his truck to him as security for the debt.

A preliminary hearing on charges against Brent will be held this morning before Justice A. C. Ritchie, at Fairfax. Precautions have been taken by Fairfax County authorities against violence today.

SIAM'S KING, QUEEN REACH WASHINGTON

companied them marched up the station platform. The king was accompanied by Vice President Curtis and the queen by Secretary Stimson. Others followed, two by two. They marched between two lines of United States Marines dress uniforms, who presented arms as the head of the party approached.

Arrived at the President's entrance, one more appropriately, exit to Union Station, the king and his queen and their party and the American officials accompanying them stopped while news photographers and moving-picture photographers took pictures.

With the appearance of the king, the Army Band, which had been lined up awaiting his appearance, struck up the chords of the national anthem of Siam. Everyone official stood still, as did most of the crowd, though it was then that some of the sightseers got their best view of the visiting rulers of millions of persons.

The national anthem done, the party entered waiting automobiles to wind between lanes of waiting sightseers, across Union Station Plaza, down to Pennsylvania avenue to East Executive avenue, to Massachusetts avenue, and to the Anderson residence.

DEPUTIES COMPLETE RAY'S OFFICE AUDIT

State Agents Decline to Talk About Report; Rumors of Shortage Doubted.

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post, 9103 Conn. Ave., North Chevy Chase, Md. Telephone Wisconsin 4205.

Deputies of the State auditor have completed the yearly audit of the accounts of the four Montgomery County offices, which handle State funds, the office of the clerk of the Circuit Court, the sheriff, register of wills and the clerk of the county police court.

The reports of the deputies will be placed in the hands of State Comptroller of Currency William S. Gordy, jr., tomorrow, at which time they will be made public. Pending the receipt of the report from the auditors, the comptroller said yesterday that he could not make any statement regarding rumors that there is a shortage in the office of the clerk of the circuit court.

As the funds handled by this office are entirely State funds and there are no county funds involved, county officials will not receive a report until the formal announcement is made tomorrow. The clerk of the circuit court is a bonded official and the accounts of the State are protected, it was said.

County Passively Interested.

County officials have intimated, however, that inasmuch as the entire matter is a State affair they can have no interest, although all were shocked that there should be any question of the integrity of Preston B. Ray, clerk of the circuit court, who died at his home in Rockville April 15. Mr. Ray was found in the kitchen of his home with the burners on a new gas stove turned on. A coffee pot on the stove and a burnt match beside it inclined to the theory that he had been stricken with a heart attack while preparing the coffee he was in the custom of making in the afternoon. His death officially was reported as accidental.

The clerk of the court's office is a fee office in which all of the funds collected above the $3,000 a year salary of the clerk and the salaries of his deputies and clerks and other expenses are turned over to the State treasury. The county auditor does not audit the accounts.

Books Audit Not Unusual.

The fact that there has been an audit does not in itself indicate that there is any shortage, as it is customary to audit the accounts of a dead official before his successor is held responsible for the moneys of the office.

Clayton K. Watkins, appointed clerk of the court after the death of Mr. Ray, said yesterday that he has no knowledge of any shortage in the office and that he does not believe there is one. He said, however, that he at no time has had access to the personal account of Mr. Ray, which is the one that the shortage is said by rumor to have been found in.

No official statement is expected on the audit until the presentation of the report of the deputy auditors tomorrow, at which time they will be made public for all of the offices which have been checked.

Temporary personnel of the county engineer's office was appointed yesterday by the Montgomery County Commissioners upon the recommendation of Acting Engineer Harry B. Shaw. Two assistant engineers and four instrumentmen and inspectors were appointed. They will assist in the surveying of the county roads authorized in the bond issues approved by the State Legislature.

The following were appointed: Raymond L. Stevens, of Silver Spring, to be assistant engineer at $2,800 per annum; John Downey, of Sandy Spring, to be assistant superintendent at $2,100 per annum; John Wheeler, of Fairland, to be inspector at a salary of $1,500 per annum; Harry Blunt, of Washington, to be instrument man at a salary of $1,200 per annum; George Hood, of Silver Spring, to be rodman and inspector at a salary of $1,200 per annum; Francis Valdemar, of Colesville, to be rodman at a salary of $1,000 per annum. The post of draftsman, at $1,800 to $2,000 per annum, was not filled, although the applicants have been interviewed. Two additional inspectors, who will be needed from time to time, will be paid on a per diem basis.

It is believed that the State roads commission will reduce the overhead on the construction of State roads for the county from the already reduced rate of 6 per cent because of the use of county engineers and the salaries will be paid from front-foot benefit assessments where improvement work is carried on.

Frank Davis yesterday was reappointed clerk of the county police court by the Montgomery County commissioners. He had been appointed temporarily to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Charles Y. Latimer, whose regular term expired this week.

The commissioners referred the petition of the United Fuel Gas Co. of Charleston, W. Va., for permission to lay gas-transmission mains in the Potomac River at Watkins Island to counsel to the county commissioners, the law firm of Whiteford & Cissel.

Russell Murder Charge Dropped

Man Enters Plea of Guilty to Performing Illegal Operation.

A first degree murder charge against David Leroy Russell was nolle prossed in Criminal Court No. 1, before Justice Peyton Gordon yesterday after Russell had entered a plea of guilty to an indictment charging him with performing a criminal operation.

The murder indictment, which arose out of the death of Thelma Rose Cain, upon whom the operation is said to have been performed, was returned by the same grand jury that indicted him for the operation. Since that time Russell has been held at the District Jail, the murder charge effectually barring him from obtaining his liberty on bond.

Shortly after Russell had entered his plea, it was announced that the charges of first degree murder and also criminal operation which named Hazel M. Chinn, would be dropped when the case against Russell is disposed of. Miss Chinn was named in the same two indictments that were returned against Russell.

Probably Justice Gordon will sentence Russell Friday. He faces the penalty of 3 to 20 years in jail.

District Opens Bids On Repair Projects

Street and Sidewalk Work Will Cost in Excess of Half Million.

Bids were opened yesterday afternoon on more than $500,000 worth of street and sidewalk repair work throughout the city by Roland M. Brennan, chief clerk of the District Engineering Department.

McGuire & Rolfe, Inc., of Washington, was lowest of five bidders on the job of repairing streets with asphalt paving. The estimate was $250,626.

Frank J. Rose and G. C. Reddick, of Hopewell, Va., with a bid of $100,987, submitted the lowest estimate of seven on repairing cement sidewalks.

For repairing concrete roadways and alleys, Brenizer Trucking Co., of Washington, was lowest of five bidders, with an estimate of $90,647.50.

The Union Paving Co., of Philadelphia, offered the lowest of six estimates for furnishing bituminous concrete mixture for cold patching. It was $68,960.

School Girl's Attacker Gets 21 Years in Jail

Special to The Washington Post.

Purcellville, Va., April 28.—Lester Beach, 28, tried in circuit court of Loudoun County today on a charge of criminally attacking a 13-year-old Pleasant Valley schoolgirl as she went through a dense thicket on her way home from school, on March 5, 1931, changed his plea of not guilty, given when he appeared before the grand jury, to guilty, and was found guilty by the jury on the charge in the indictment and given 21 years in the State Penitentiary.

CITY'S WOMEN HEAR ADDRESS ON BRIDGE

Mrs. John Wright Tells Post's Group Experts Will Join Contests.

Mrs. John E. Wright, formerly of Washington, and now of Cleveland, Ohio, spoke yesterday on contract bridge before the auction and contract section of the Women's City Club, of which section Mrs. J. Edwin Reid is president. The members are regularly engaged in practice games for the purpose of participating in the first annual bridge tournament of Washington players, sponsored by The Washington Post.

Another section of the same club, known as the Friday Contract Study Club, since the announcement of the tournament, has been taking coaching lessons under the direction of Mrs. John K. Freiot, bridge instructor, and has already entered several teams in the contest. The members of the club express confidence that some one of its several teams will be able to capture a trophy.

Mrs. Wright gave the ladies some valuable pointers on the technique of the game, explaining the method of bidding followed by expert players, the reason for certain leads, and advised all of them to enter the tournament, not only for the social features, which it will afford, but because of the experience to be gained from tournament and duplicate playing and contact with other lovers of the popular pastime.

Second Rank Claimed.

"Next to New York," said Mrs. Wright, "Cleveland ranks as the greatest bridge center of the country. We have some players in the Forest City who are just as good as any in New York, but perhaps not quite as many who are experts, because New York is larger than Cleveland. I have never seen anywhere, however, any greater enthusiasm over the game than has been aroused here over your forthcoming tournament. It will be a classic event in bridge annals. I have encountered some very fine players in Washington, and I think your tournament should be made an annual affair as no doubt it will be. As this is my old home I would like to see a bridge club formed here that would send teams to participate in the big league meetings."

Mrs. Wright, while in Washington, is the guest of Mrs. Alma Byrne, a well-known local teacher, who is one of the promoters of the Washington tournament. She will shortly return to Cleveland for the purpose of playing in the national tournament for professional players which is to be held in that city next week.

Both Matches Available.

In answer to various inquiries, the committee on arrangements announced that entrants who desire to do so may play in both the auction and contract team matches. These are to be held at different sessions, auction team contests in both classes on Thursday evening and Saturday afternoon, and the contract team contests in both classes on Friday and Saturday evenings. They may also play in the pair contests on Thursday and Friday afternoons, even though entered as teams, without impairing their qualification for the team matches which take place in the evening and on Saturday afternoon. The only condition is that advanced players will not be permitted to take part in the class B games, which are intended exclusively for intermediate players, that is those who do not classify themselves as experts.

The dates are May 14, 15 and 16; seating hour for afternoon games 2 o'clock and for evening games 8 o'clock. A short explanatory talk will be given at the opening of each session, and playing will start promptly at 2:30 and 8:30. The place is the New Shoreham Hotel.

SENATORS TO PUSH BISHOP CANNON QUIZ

Campaign Funds Committee Sets May 6 for Hearings; Challenge Ignored.

(Associated Press.)

Ignoring a challenge of its authority by Bishop James Cannon, jr., the Senate campaign funds committee voted yesterday to continue its inquiry into the 1928 anti-Smith campaign expenditures of the Southern Methodist churchman.

A unanimous decision by the three committeemen present set May 6 for further hearings. Chairman Nye withheld any announcement as to witnesses, saying the committee at that time would receive the evidence developed by its investigation.

Besides Senator Nye, a North Dakota Republican, Senators Dale (Republican), Vermont, and Wagner (Democrat), New York, attended the meeting. Senators Patterson (Republican), Missouri, and Dill (Democrat), Washington, the other two members, will not be here until next Monday, when the committee starts a two-day hearing on proposed revision of the corrupt practices act.

Bishop Not to Be Called Now.

Senator Nye said Bishop Cannon would not be called at this time. The bishop, in raising the question recently whether the committee had a legal right to proceed with the inquiry, requested an opportunity to appear and argue the point if the committee decided to continue its inquiry.

"I wouldn't interpret Bishop Cannon's statement," Senator Nye said, "as being anything other than an expression of readiness to appear if the committee determined it had the right to proceed with its inquiry."

Although the church leader will not be summoned to next week's hearing, there is little doubt he would be permitted to attend and make a statemen if he came of his own accord.

Bishop Cannon holds that the committee is proceeding under a Senate resolution granting powers that can be delegated only to a grand jury.

Investigation Authorized.

The resolution, sponsored by Senator Glass (Democrat), Virginia, authorized an investigation of complaints of alleged violations of the corrupt practices act or diversions of campaign funds to other uses.

The campaign funds committee held its first and only hearing on the Cannon case last February. At that time, half a dozen bank officers were questioned as to accounts maintained in their institutions by the churchman.

The committee will investigate the disposition of $65,300 turned over to Bishop Cannon by E. C. Jameson, of New York, for use in opposing Alfred E. Smith in Virginia in the 1928 election.

PONCE DE LEON APARTMENT DEAL ENTERS IN RHEEM QUIZ

deeds of trust on the Broadmoor, while Rheem was absent in Florida.

Rheem testified that "a board of arbitration" was appointed to decide if any commission was due the firm of McKeever & Goss for arranging sale of the Shoreham Building, that it decided in the negative, that Hilleary Hoskinson, of the Riggs National Bank, received $500 for his services on the board.

Rheem testified he wrote Southern Dairies July 30, 1930, asking them to defer collection of a $100,000 curtailment until a later date. His excuse, that his bank facilities were being used to the utmost, was termed "sales talk" by Rheem on the witness stand.

The referee announced that the Lombardy Apartments, at 2019 I street northwest, and the Marquette, at 2115 Pensylvania avenue, will be taken up when examination is resumed at 11 o'clock this morning.

Brewer was called to the stand when the hearing opened, and Attorneys Richardson and George E. Sullivan questioned him on Rheem's testimony that he, Brewer, personally handled the Broadmoor release.

The witness said "his recollection was" he either acted under a letter of instruction given him by Rheem, or from "memoranda" left by the executive vice president.

Called by Telephone.

He said he called Rheem by long-distance telephone in Florida when there was a new development at the last minute, when the amount put up by the New York Life Insurance was reduced by more than $50,000, covering the value of property near Sixteenth and R streets and other items.

Sullivan asked Brewer if he did not know that Swartzell, Rheem & Hensey Co. did not have enough funds on hand after the Broadmoor release to pay off noteholders.

"I know it now," said Brewer, "but I didn't take it under consideration at the time."

"Did you think it was right to take this money, and not pay off noteholders?" queried Sullivan.

"I didn't know Mr. Rheem was keeping the money from them," Brewer responded. "I thought he planned to reinvest it or pay it later."

Trusted in Management.

Again Sullivan asked him why he permitted the transaction to go forward. Brewer replied he "didn't have any say-so," that he trusted to Rheem's management.

He testified that the Ponce de Leon was the first of the company's properties released in this manner.

Under questioning by Marcus Borchardt Rheem testified the "board of arbitration" named to determine if McKeever should receive a commission, Rheem said the board was appointed by himself. Under examination by Borchardt he identified the letter said to have been written to Southern Dairies asking postponement of $100,000 payment.

Richardson examined Rheem at length on the refinancing of the Ponce de Leon, bringing out testimony showing "depletion" of the company's Federal-American Bank account by $84,673 within two days after funds received for the release were deposited there. Of a portion of this amount that was used for payment of dividends, Rheem said $1,700 in dividends went to the estate of C. B. Rheem.

Answer in Negative.

Richardson wanted to know if any notes on the Ponce de Leon were paid between November 1, when the deposit was made, and November 2, when the first "depletion" was shown. Rheem answered in the negative.

Then Richardson asked if any notes were paid between November 1 and November 16. Leon Tobriner, counsel, advised his client to claim immunity on the ground his testimony might tend to incriminate him. The referee told Rheem to reply, as the information was a matter of record in the company's files. Rheem said it would require an hour to look up the data, and Richardson, "to avoid delay," proceeded with his questioning without the information being produced.

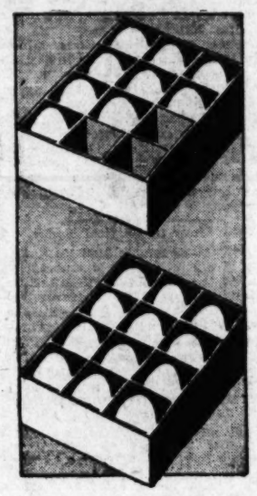
—would You buy 9 eggs to the DOZEN or 12?



Silly questions, perhaps. But it illustrates exactly the comparison of price among nationally advertised ginger ales.

Here are the facts:

Most nationally known ginger ales come in smaller-than-pint bottles labeled as containing 12 ounces. These bottles are, of course, not pints at all.

Clicquot Club Pale Dry and Clicquot Club Golden are always sold in full-measure, real pint bottles containing 16 ounces. You get full value in these fine old American ginger ales. EXTRA value and EXTRA quality and flavor, too.

That is why Clicquot Club is, today, America's lowest priced nationally advertised ginger ale.

Buy Clicquot Club and get your money's worth.

WHITTEMORE GANG SURVIVOR IS JAILED

Thomas Phillips Sentenced to Serve 8 Years; Aid Gets Shorter Term.

Thomas A. Phillips, last member of the Whittemore gang in Baltimore, was yesterday sentenced to eight years in the penitentiary for his part in the holdup of a jewelry store in Laurel a few months ago. His companion, Paul M. Taylor, of Kensington, Md., said to be a beginner in crime, was sentenced to serve five years.

The pair were sentenced in circuit court in Prince Georges County, after they pleaded guilty to the robbery. A third member of the gang committed suicide when cornered by police shortly after the crime.

Taylor's wife and father were in court, and the aged man embraced his son as police locked the handcuffs on his wrist and led him away to begin his expiation.

When asked if he had anything to say before sentence should be pronounced, Phillips said, "As a last hope of reformation, I ask the mercy of the court." In pronouncing the sentence, Judge William C. Lokar pointed that a life had been forfeited in the crime, even though Phillips was not directly at fault.

Clarence Walters, who was convicted of larceny and receiving stolen goods, was sentenced to serve three years, and a two-year sentence was put against Clarence Diggs for assault with intent to kill and assault and battery on Lee Diggs. Clarence is alleged to have slashed Lee with a knife.

William C. Wilson and Snowden Jones were committed to the penitentiary for two years for receiving stolen goods and larceny from Clarena C. Hall.

The trial of Samuel Spencer, colored, of Croome, for the murder of Edward Cole, alias John Fleet, also colored, was begun yesterday, but continued for lack of witnesses. It will be resumed again this morning. The State alleges that Spencer shot Cole while driving by in an auto. John Thomas Adams, jr., colored, was convicted of a statutory offense.

ILL "MISSIONARY" REVEALED AS HAVING SERVED IN PRISON

Word from Lockport, N. Y., was that Thurber's mother had left her home there for "somewhere in Ohio." Hospital authorities had received no word from her tonight. Lockport officials said the woman's son had been shell shocked on the battlefields of France thirteen years ago and wa ssubject to hallucinations.

Thurber was admitted to Lutheran Hospital here ten days ago on his claim that an illness contracted by eating poorly cooked fish in the Orient was in a critical stage. He was transferred a few days later to City Hospital, where physicians said the disease he had might be distomiasis, as claimed. They said the disease is virtually unknown in this country, but is rather common in the Orient, and is caused by parasites known as "flukes," which attack the abdominal organs. Infections are frequently fatal, they learned.

Claimed Part in Bombing.

Lockport, N. Y., April 28 (A.P.).—Ralph Thurber, in a Cleveland hospital claiming to be a victim of a rare disease, is no stranger to Nation-wide publicity. In March, 1929, while in a British prison, Thurber caused a sensation by a confession that he had participated in the plot to bomb Wall street, which on September 16, 1920, resulted in the death of 30 persons. Investigation revealed that he had been serving a term in San Quentin prison, California, at the time of the bombing.

Thurber is well-known here. Prior to the entrance of the United States into the World War, he enlisted in the Canadian Army and saw service overseas. He was discharged after being shell shocked and returned to America. Later he enlisted in the United States Marines and while on furlough here was a Liberty loan speaker.

Mrs. Susan Thurber, his mother, was not at home today. Neighbors said she had gone to Ohio, probably to visit her son.

Mississippi Governor Wins in Session Row

Jackson, Miss., April 28, (A.P.).—Gov. Theodore G. Bilbo, veteran of a score of spectacular political battles, marked up another victory today after breaking up a "rump" session of the Legislature, called in defiance of his wishes, by merely doing nothing.

The assemblymen, meeting on their own initiative, admitted their inability to act in the absence of a gubernatorial call, capitulated to the governer's demand for an advance promise that they will not attempt to investigate or impeach anybody, should the governor call them legally together.

Doumergue Convokes Parliament.

Paris, April 28 (A.P.).—President Doumergue today signed a decree convoking Parliament as a national assembly at Versailles on May 13 for the election of his successor.

Woman Is Ignorant Of Menacing Death

Agent, Bitten by Dog Later Found to Have Rabies, Sought in South.

Raleigh, N. C., April 28 (A.P.).—Death in one of its most dreaded forms is believed to threaten the life of a woman magazine agent, working somewhere in the South and, presumably, unaware of her danger.

Ten days ago the woman, whose name was not learned, was soliciting in Rope, N. C., for subscriptions to a religious publication. As she entered the yard of a home there, she was attacked by a dog and bitten, the bite was apparently not serious, and after first aid treatment, she went her way.

A few days later, the dog showed signs of rabies. It was killed and an examination showed the animal had the disease. The incident of the woman solicitor was recalled today, and newspapers were asked to publish the facts in the hope that she may be warned in time to take antirabic treatment.

O. H. Gaunt, 49, Found Dead in Clarke County

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., April 28. — Ollie Humiston Gaunt, 49, merchant and member of a prominent Clarke County family, was found dead late today in the rear of his general store at Boyce. A shotgun was found nearby.

The discovery was made by Mr. Gaunt's brother, Charles, and Ray Gaunt, working in an adjoining yard, who heard the shot. The coroner gave a suicide verdict. Survivors are a widow and three sons.

ROYAL VISITORS WELCOME.

Washington extends a hearty welcome to King Prajadhipok and Queen Rambai Barni of Siam. The whole country has been fascinated by the quiet dignity of the royal couple as well as by the informality of their visit. The king has allowed himself to be interviewed. While in Washington he will deliver a radio address. His pleasing personality seems to have been a much greater factor in captivating the hearts of the American public than his royal titles. Wherever he and his charming consort go they radiate the culture and grace of the Orient and imbibe the spirit of America.

King Prajadhipok came to this country primarily for an operation on his eye. But he is making the most of the visit. As absolute monarch over 11,000,000 people, he is anxious to broaden his experience in a way that will be of benefit to his country. American industry, science, invention and political science will be subjected to the king's scrutiny. Not that Siam wishes to borrow American habits and customs! The king makes it very plain that his people "adapts" ideas from other lands to their own use when they seem to be acceptable, but the Siamese do not "adopt" ideas from anywhere.

One of the most interesting studies which the king will make while in this country concerns the workings of government. He wants to see how Democracy functions. Again there is no intention of creating a Siamese republic. Prajadhipok is one of the few absolute monarchs left in the world. His word is law, but his rule is benevolent. He is in a truly Oriental sense a father of his people. Any attempt to change that system might meet with greater resistance from the people than from the ruling family.

But the king wishes to train his people in representative government. When he returns to Bangkok he intends to devise a system of municipal elections, which may develop into a wider grant of suffrage. Perhaps the Siamese will learn much from methods of government in the Occident. Certainly there is in their own unique political institutions much to interest and instruct western peoples.

THE BRITISH BUDGET.

The motoring public of England is called upon to balance the British budget for the new fiscal year. The government tax on gasoline will be raised to 12 cents a gallon. Chancellor of the Exchequer Snowden surprised the House of Commons by the moderation of his program for wiping out the prospective deficit of $181,598,760 for the year beginning April 1. The only other proposal touching taxpayers directly will be the requirement of a 75 per cent payment of income taxes next January instead of 50 per cent, so as to bring an additional 25 per cent within the fiscal year.

These hitherto "unconsidered trifles," together with about $100,000,000 that can be withdrawn from the British dollar exchange fund on deposit in New York, are expected to see the treasury through. The withdrawal from New York, it was explained, can now be made since reparation payments and installments on the Italian and French war debts, that formerly were paid in various currencies, are now paid in dollars through the Bank for International Settlements, so that a lesser dollar exchange fund was required.

The announcement that was received with cheers from Labor and which will find opposition among the Conservatives and in the House of Lords, was the proposal of a penny in the pound tax to be levied on the capital value of real estate. This tax, is incorporated in the financial system, would not yield a revenue until 1933, as the measure will call for a program of two years' revision of valuations.

The total British budget, approximating the American Government expenditure of about $4,000,000,000, has suffered from the heavy inroads of the dole system. In March the unemployment payments cost about $47,000,000. In the earlier stages this fund was more or less equally divided between contributions from employer, employe funds and the government, but with the long-continued necessity for the dole, funds have become exhausted and newly eligible noncontributors had to be cared for, until in March all but $10,000,000 of the total had to be met by the government. At this rate the unemployment payments mount to a yearly total of $444,000,000.

Chancellor Snowden frankly admitted that the budget as presented was one that temporized with the situation; it anticipated or rather hoped that reductions in dole payments could be made, and he warned that estimates would suffice only by the exercise of the most rigid economy in all government departments. The basic rate of income tax, 22½ per cent, remains unchanged. The estimates offered frankly but a one-year program. Mr. Snowden explained that he was virtually compromising with his conscience in taking advantage of expedients, which in normal circumstances he would scorn, to tide the country over the depression.

MAYOR WALKER.

Gov. Roosevelt has dismissed the charges brought against Mayor Walker of New York City by a citizens' committee. The committee asked that Mayor Walker be dismissed for incompetence and neglect of duty. "I do not find sufficient justification in these documents," says Gov. Roosevelt, "to remove the Mayor of the City of New York or to proceed further in the matter of these charges."

Gov. Roosevelt's action goes far to brush away the rubbish of political controversy that has accumulated around the city government of New York. It would have been absurd to remove Mayor Walker on the mere assertions of citizens who had grievances against him. The charges were rambling, unverified, and tinctured by personal abuse that destroyed their force. Mayor Walker's answer to the charges was so complete that there was nothing left for Gov. Roosevelt to do but dismiss them. An investigation of New York City affairs is to be made by a committee of the Legislature. Sufficient reason for a thorough investigation has been found in the judicial corruption already exposed and in official charges lodged against other functionaries. The investigation will, of course, bear upon Mayor Walker's conduct of affairs, and if he has been incompetent or neglectful the fact will be demonstrated. He has already called upon all city officials to furnish all available information to the investigating committee, and any official refusing to answer questions pertaining to official matters will be dismissed.

Mayor Walker has not given any indication that he is trying to block an investigation or to protect any wrongdoer. Thousands of officials are under his jurisdiction. He can not be held personally responsible for their acts. His prompt removal of exposed offenders and his vigorous reorganization of the police department are evidence of his desire to maintain good government. New York City is well governed, taking into consideration new inventions in law-breaking that are embarrassing every city and the Federal Government itself. The people of New York City are not as excited over the movement against Mayor Walker as some politicians would have it appear.

CHEAPER MEALS.

The Girl Scouts have made a demonstration in household economy that might be emulated, at least in some degree, in many American homes. The Scouts served a luncheon to the President and Mrs. Hoover that cost 24 cents. The distinguished guests found it quite satisfactory. If every table in this country were to be provided with equal economy a lot of retail dealers would have to go out of business, but with the present scale of wages and established standards, there is no danger that such an average ever will be struck.

On the other hand there is no country in the world where such extravagance and waste are shown in providing the family fare. The doctors will doubtless agree that more bodily ills are caused by overeating than by indulgence in strong drink. Waste in preparation and waste in oversupply are national habits that result in the absolute loss of many millions a year.

There is no branch in which national economy can be figured so rapidly and with such mounting totals as in connection with daily provender. That is because the people of the United States require 336,000,000 meals every day of the year.

Lone bachelors and bachelor maids who consume their rations at restaurants would be happy if sufficient calories could be indulged in each day at an average expenditure of 60 cents a day. On the other hand many a family of four could be served twelve meals a day for a total of less than $2.40. It is among families that spend two or three times that much upon their tables that a saving could be made by careful buying and more scientific planning, without impairment of appetizing and nourishing menus, and probably with real benefit to the health of every member.

The Scout meal for the President was planned by the Bureau of Home Economics of the Department of Agriculture, which is prepared to distribute many valuable leaflets for the asking. If one-third of the families of this country saved a dollar a day they could put $4,000,000,000 a year in the savings banks.

THE UNKNOWN.

Death intruded upon but did not interrupt the annual meeting of the American Philosophical Society in Philadelphia. That venerable philosopher and physician, Dr. Francis X. Dercum, president of the society since 1927, collapsed and died of heart disease in the presiding officer's chair just as he was ready to open the annual scientific gathering. The end of a life that has contributed so much to knowledge made a deep impression on the society, but with true philosophic spirit the meetings were continued, "as Dr. Dercum would have wished."

It is quite appropriate that the philosophers went on with their varied discussion of "the changing world," for not one of them, nor any other philosopher who ever lived, knows what it was that departed from Dr. Dercum and left his keen intellect only a labyrinth of nerve fibers. A few years ago scientists thought they had mastered the secrets of matter. Now no physicist who thinks anything of his reputation dares to define an atom. Prof. Arthur H. Compton, of the University of Chicago, remarked that the task of physics in the next generation is to scrutinize the "inner core" of the atom, and Dr. Robert A. Millikan observed that "we can no more define atoms than we can define soul or spirit." Until the nature of commonplace material things is known it is rather presumptuous for even philosophers to probe into the mysteries of life itself.

Nature guards her secrets well. The deeper science probes into elemental things the greater the vast realm of the unknowable becomes. Solutions of some important questions give rise to more complicated enigmas which the human intellect can not explain. Just as modern man begins to believe that his superior intellect is about to open the universe to more complete understanding, along comes Dr. Edwin G. Conklin with his declaration that human emotions and human intellect are about the same today as in the time of Adam. Economic improvements have convinced man that he is wiser than his ancestors, but humanity is still actuated by the same impulses and the same will. The chief effect of scientific investigation and philosophic thought thus far has been to show mankind how little is actually known about the origin, the purpose or the termination of life.

Philosophy has, therefore, turned to simpler phases of the fundamental problem. In their present gathering they have allowed such mundane subjects as economic depressions, the lengthening of life, modern inventions, the use of leisure time and the enactment of laws to impinge upon their attention. It must not be supposed that philosophy has turned its back on the unfathomable sea of the unknown, but rather that keen intellects have decided to sound the shallows before venturing too far out in the deeps.

The King of Siam is delighted with springtime in Washington, when cherry blossoms, dogwoods, and white spats are in full bloom.

Peering through a new telescope, scientists have discovered 200,000 new worlds, but what does that have to do with the deficit?

Hoopeston, Ill., has hired a mayor for 50 cents per year. Now they're beginning to pay politicians what they're worth.

The British taxpaying public was all set for a severe mauling, but all Phil Snowden did was to show his fangs.

CALVIN COOLIDGE SAYS:

Northampton, Mass., April 28.—Those who are supporting the movement have designated this week as a time for especial consideration of the problem of better homes. It is part of the general effort which we constantly are making for social improvement. On its practical side, the architect, the builder and the many modern inventions all have been enlisted to make the home more convenient, more sanitary and more beautiful. Science and art are joined with economics to teach people better how to live.

Our material surroundings have a marked effect upon our physical, mental and moral life. Proper nourishment, ventilation, and even decorations, have been found from actual experiment to be of much importance. Environment has an especially large influence upon the development of children.

The home is the foundation of society. Unless it teaches order and truth, justice and forbearance, patriotism and humanity these virtues are not likely to be acquired from any other source. When everything has been done for the house, only the people who live in it can make it a better home. The indwelling spirit can not be ignored in this movement. All that luxury can provide will fail without the cooperation of personal faith and devotion. CALVIN COOLIDGE.

HARNESSING THE SUN

From the Boston Transcript.

"I came into this world to see the sun," wrote the famous Russian poet, Constantine Balmont, and mankind has been enjoying the spectacle ever since that far-off age when the orb of day was worshiped as a Deity. Nor have our modern scientists failed to read into it priceless meanings for life on this planet which the ancients never knew or only dimly comprehended. Its service in making climates bearable, and in supplying that stimulus to growth without which agriculture would be impossible, is a matter of common knowledge. And now, in an epoch when civilization more than ever needs the aid of machinery, and when the inevitable exhaustion of our coal supplies is being predicted, the sun increasingly challenges the attention of those engaged in planning for the industrial future of the world.

Ventures in the direction of new sources of power have already been numerous. New types of windmill are being devised for storing up power during gusts, blizzards and hurricanes; attempts to gather it from flowing rivers and tidal waves still continue; beginnings have even been made for the capture of solar energy in a field the most alluring of all. For, according to Sir James Jeans, "the sun is now pouring out radiation at such a rate that if the necessary energy were generated in a power station just outside the sun, this station would have to burn coal at the rate of many thousands of millions of tons a second." And when the energy thus reaches the earth, think of the extent to which it is wasted in heating areas and objects whose raised temperatures make no contributions to the interests of man.

Turn, therefore, to the Kaiser Wilhelm Institute at Berlin for the news that Dr. Bruno Lange has just perfected there "a photo-cell which converts sunlight into electric current more completely than ever before," thus making possible "an expansion of human engineering activities to a new scale similar to to what happened after the invention of the steam engine," and doing this by "a method which may prove successful in putting the sun to work for man throughout the future history of the world." Already linked up with the project are several American technicians and industrialists, the Westinghouse Electric Co. included, and the "wizard of Menlo Park" has just invited the inventor for a sojourn at the Edison laboratory. And as the efficiency of the photo-cell has been increased "fifty-fold" during the last few months, the stage is set for combining it with huge metal plates to be exposed to the solar rays in some desert like that of Sahara. Does it all mean that the man of the future will come into this world not only to see the sun, but also to watch it "generate the electric energy which is to drive the machines and illuminate the streets of towns thousands of miles away?"

BABES IN ARMS.

Passenger-carrying operations of air transport companies have reached the point where they compare favorably with the activities of railroads from the standpoint of schedules offered and service provided. The majority of air companies are now publishing time tables on much the same order as those issued by the older form of transport, says the Wall Street Journal. It is interesting to note that volume on the planes has reached the point where the air companies are now including in their time tables a page devoted to "general information," which passengers will do well to take note of when contemplating an air journey. Eastern Air Transport stipulates in its time table that children in arms will be carried without charge, but all others must pay regular fare. The time table also states that no animals may be transported in passenger planes.

JUST FOLKS

SMALL SERVICE.

Time makes the little service great.
Two thousand years ago and more
The Master saw a widow pause
And give her little to the cause,
And still men tell the story o'er.

The measure of the kindly deed
Is not its present worth or size.
The word of cheer one stops to speak
May lift unto the mountain peak
The youth the desert terrifies.

One may himself a failure seem,
And yet perhaps some trivial gift
His heart has prompted him to make
Unselfishly for friendship's sake
Another from the depths may lift.

Lives have been changed in moments rare
Along the pathways mortals plod,
Unseen and little understood
Are many ways of doing good
And many ways of serving God.

There Would Be No Colleges if a Grammar School Diploma Satisfied Pride.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THERE are none so blind as those who are blinded by pride.

There are none so hopelessly ignorant as those who lack humility.

It is the want of humility, more than any other handicap, that prevents the development of natural abilities.

Great men of other ages once served as an inspiration, but their wisdom does not impress the modern. "We know a lot more," says he, "than any of the old-timers."

You doubtless have heard that statement many times. Perhaps you have made it yourself. Are you sure it is true?

You have many machines unknown to the ancients, but what do you know about them beyond the fact that they function when you press a button?

Do you know the laws that govern their operation and construction? Denied a model, could you build or tell how to build a radio set, an electric motor, an internal combustion engine, a telephone, a battery, an electric light, a phonograph—or even a fountain pen?

The ancients knew how to make glass, copper, pottery, cloth. Could you make any of these things?

The "old-timers" knew a great deal about astronomy. Do you know or care much about it?

The man who taught the world the theory of evolution, the man who discovered that germs cause disease, the man who gave the world anesthetics—all these were "old-timers." Do you know as much as any one of them?

Do you even know your native language as well as DeQuincy, Milton or Shakespeare did?

Isn't it true that the superior knowledge "we" possess is in fact the possession of a very few men?

If these few should die, and all books should be destroyed, how much knowledge could you contribute to the building of a new civilization?

We boast of "our" wonderful civilization, but the knowledge of a few men doesn't make us wise any more than the righteousness of a few makes us good.

We feed our pride on the achievement of wiser men, and thus develop the foolish vanity that makes us content in ignorance.

We can make no progress as individuals until we examine ourselves as individuals and discover how ignorant and worthless we are.

The "sublime discontent" that inspires progress never affects the man who knows it all.

PRO AND CON

Press Comment Upon Acts and Actors in the Great American Show, "Politics."

A Super State Falters.

Minneapolis Journal.

Evidently the United States of Borah is getting behind in its work, finding it necessary to curtail some of the activities in its relations with Soviet Russia. But it is a question whether having once set itself up independent of the Government of the United States of America, it is not the duty of the United States of Borah to keep its hand to the plow.

Not many months ago, ignoring the Federal statute that forbids communication in public relations with another government except through the State Department, Senator Borah took it upon himself to communicate directly with Moscow on a subject properly the business of Government, and not of a senator. Only a fortnight or so ago, he did it again, this time, to obtain Soviet permission for globe girdling aviators to cross Russia. In both instances, he acted in a manner that seemed to be in contravention of Federal law. In effect, he constituted himself, if not a separate principality, at least a department of the United States Government, coequal with the State Department, which legally is vested with exclusive authority for such an act.

Fogging the Farmer.

Cynthia (Ky.) Democrat.

A striking instance of our versatility in government lies in the Federal Farm Board's insistence that farmers cut down the size of crops, while another Government branch advises over radio how larger crops can be raised on less ground, and still another branch is building huge dams cut West to irrigate more land to raise more crops.

Nevertheless, Politics Flourishes.

Indianapolis News.

Trying to make Washington a political center while Congress is not in session, and during an off year, is like trying to sell Chicago to the world as a model village.

Hollywood Stuff.

Cincinnati Enquirer.

Politics in America has been described, aptly enough, as a circus. It has all the hoarse shouting, the spectacular feats, the raucous parades, the cracking of whips and the general confusion of the circus, to be sure. But of late the tactics of the two major parties have appeared more like the slapstick comedy of Hollywood in the earlier and more naive epoch.

Just now Messrs. Fess and Shouse, chairmen of their respective parties, are lambasting each other verbally over a matter of slight importance, and doing it with no trace of skill or humor. Mr. Fess asserts that Mr. Shouse said thus and so, which was derogatory to the dignity of the Republican party. Mr. Shouse denies everything and adds that his party won last year in Ohio, which is true enough, but somewhat beside the point.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Democrat Wants to Know Why Methodist Board Does Not Attack American Federation as Well as Chairman Raskob.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Today's press reports carries the "news" that the Methodist Episcopal Board of Temperance, in its weekly clip sheet, has again bitterly attacked Chairman Raskob. These personal attacks on Mr. Raskob by this board are made at such frequent and regular intervals that the people generally are now quite satisfied that it is against him. Having thoroughly convinced the people of its dislike for Mr. Raskob, will the board now please inform the readers of its clip sheet how it stands on the prohibition question?

Organized labor has been and now is equally or more insistent for modification of the Volstead act than Mr. Raskob, and certainly that organization is much more influential than is any one individual, including Mr. Raskob, yet this board, which never loses an opportunity to attack him, has never assailed or even mildly rebuked organized labor for its repeated public statements demanding modification of the Volstead act.

In the absence of any explanation of its inconsistency, how can this board expect the public to do otherwise than to form its own opinion as to the one reason why the board does not love Mr. Raskob? That reason is too apparent to need any explanation.

A VIRGINIA DEMOCRAT.

Democrat Takes Note of Republican Trends, and Sounds a Warning Against "Raskobism."

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In The Post's informative poll of delegates and alternates to the 1928 Republican nominating convention I see that one of the Virginians thinks that in 1932 "prohibition and 'Raskobism' will be the issue." "Raskobism" of course, would include prohibition, and it strikes me that Raskob incorporated in an ism would be rubbing it in on Democracy. What a juicy morsel to roll under the tongues of Republican orators! What if a rose by any other name does smell as sweet! A Democratic platform summed up in the word "Raskobism" would be something else again. With Raskob in the managerial saddle, and the fatuity of Raskobism proclaimed from 10,000 orotund throats, it would just about break the Donkey's back.

My party must keep itself free from Jonahs, or it will throw away its great opportunity of 1932.

HICKORY.

Doing Europe on $500 for Two Is Not So Easy—Figure It Out.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: With the vacation period rapidly approaching, may I not have the privilege of a small space in your paper to warn some of your readers, who may be planning an inexpensive trip to Europe this summer, that, although European travel in recent years has become much easier on the pocketbook, it still is an item to be conjured with. The statement in The Post of April 25 by the lady and son who say they are going to travel 15,000 miles on an expenditure of $500 from Berkeley, Calif., to England Scotland and France, must not be taken too seriously. If the lady does not know it now, she will know it hereafter, that it can not be done.

The lowest fare on the Atlantic today between New York and Glasgow is $155 for the round trip, and as the boy is 12 years old he also must pay full fare, making the total of $310 for the ocean trip alone. To this we must add four fares by bus right across the American continent, which is letting the lady down very easily when we reckon it at $120.

Moreover, Uncle Sam and the British and French ambassadors all conspire to get their bit off those who travel, so another $40 is swallowed up in passports, war tax and visas, before the lady gets her foot off the dock in New York.

We have now only $30 left to do six months' traveling in Europe, and remember we haven't broken bread since leaving California.

This lady, being of a poetic nature, may prefer the best hotels, as she says, but I am afraid her preference is going to be short-lived on less than a cent a day for two persons.

The story as written is very deceiving, and if Gen. Butler was not so busy right now with many important matters, my suggestion to the lady would be to "Tell it to the Marines." "YURRUP."

The Kiosk Is a Liar, Says an Indignant Citizen.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Here's what we get for sticking up for the Washington climate against that lying kiosk. Kill the kiosk, that crooked liar! This is from the Philadelphia Public Ledger:

"There is something in the evolution of a city to a tourist city which should be investigated by the psychologists or the neurologists. There is a peculiar nervous development, a touchiness, an inordinate fear of inconsequentials, a sort of supersensitiveness. And it usually manifests itself concerning details. Los Angeles and Santa Barbara, for instance, go into tantrums at the mere mention of earthquakes. Miami shudders at the very word "hurricane." Boston tilts its Back Bay nose at modernism or new thought. Asheville fairly splutters at the mention of snow.

"And now Washington has caught it. Her Chamber of Commerce and her Board of Trade are up in arms about "faulty" weather-recording instruments. It really doesn't get so very hot in Washington in the summer time, they say in eager chorus. And if the thermometers say it does—well, the thermometers should be moved, or changed, or something.

"There should be an investigation of this nervous disease of the cities. The first thing we know, unless its spread is checked, New York will be denying that there is any traffic congestion in its canyon streets."

BYRD WILL CROWN SHENANDOAH QUEEN

Admiral Accepts Invitation to Attend Winchester Blossom Fete.

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., April 28.—Acceptance of an invitation to place the crown of apple blossoms and jewels on the brow of the queen of the eighth annual Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival here May 5-8 was received today from Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, naval flier and explorer.

The queen of the festival, Miss Patricia D. Morton, of Winchester, England, with her mother, Mrs. Evelyn Morton Stroud, will reach American shores Wednesday afternoon on the Homeric, which left Southampton April 22.

A committee left Winchester today to extend official greetings and welcome to the English girl. It consisted of Mrs. B. B. Dutton, chairman of the department of the queen and her court; Mrs. Hunter H. McGuire, who will be the queen's official hostess; Thomas B. Byrd, brother of the admiral, and Victor Arthur, assistant director general of the festival.

Will Visit in New York.

The queen and her mother will spend a day in New York, where several entertainments will be given in their honor. Miss Morton also will make a short radio speech at the studio of the Columbia Broadcasting System. She and her mother are expected to arrive here Friday.

Admiral Byrd, who has been on a lecture tour of several months, notified Nelson F. Richards, director general of the festival, that he would be here May 5 to place the crown on the brow of the queen. The ceremony, patterned after the coronation of Alfred the Great in Winchester, England, will take place that afternoon on the esplanade of the Handley High School Building, occupying the center of a 72-acre campus.

About 40 princesses representing thirteen American States will form part of the queen's court, which also will include maids of honor, pages, heralds, guards of honor and personal guards.

30 Bands Are Expected.

One of the biggest bands to march in the queen's parade the second day of the festival will be the District of Columbia High School Cadet Band, consisting of 150 youths from Capital high schools. More than 30 other bands and bugle and drum corps of veterans' organizations of half a dozen States also will be in the parade, it was said. The "queen's own" band will be the Twentieth United States Marine Band, of Washington.

Winchester, Va., April 28 (A.P.).—Nelson F. Richards, director general of the Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival, today announced appointment of two more princesses who will attend the festival queen.

They are Miss Ruth McCann, of Stephenson, Va., who has been designated as Princess Frederick, and Miss Margaret Elrod, of Forsyth, Ga., who has been appointed by Gov. L. G. Hardman to represent the State of Georgia.

2 Alcohol Trucks Stolen by 6 Men

Robbers Arriving in Auto With Capital License Plates Escape.

Baltimore, Md., April 28 (A.P.).—Six men armed with pistols walked into a garage early today, held up two men and drove off with two trucks, which, police said, were loaded with drums of alcohol. Two hours later the trucks were found abandoned, and Richard E. Evans, 26, was arrested when he inquired at a police station about the trucks.

The garage owner, William F. Reed, said his Negro helper had been offered "a large sum" to permit the trucks to be driven away. The helper telephoned Reed, and shortly after he arrived, he said, the six armed men arrived in an automobile with Washington, D. C., license plates, produced pistols, and drove the trucks away.

Man Accused of Stealing Screen.

Figuring that window screen weather has arrived, Nathaniel Newman, 60, colored, calmly picked up a screen and put it in his pushcart, according to police, as he was going through an alley in the rear of a grocery on Seventh street near M northwest yesterday. A clerk, who was watching, chased Newman and turned him over to police, notified by radio. He was charged with attempted larceny.

Here, is a collection of which we are justly proud—coats of the dull-surfaced silks, canton, crepe, faille and crepe jolly in black and blue, with soft and flattering scarfs, jabots, fur revers, fur cuffs on an otherwise unfurred coat, and glorious gray fox far off the shoulder on still another model. King and Queen Guests Tonight Of President

State Dinner to Be Given; Hoovers Entertained by Hydes.

THE President and Mrs. Hoover will entertain at the White House tonight in honor of the King and Queen of Siam, who arrived in Washington last night and are occupying during their brief stay here the Larz Anderson house on Massachusetts avenue. The dinner tonight will be the only function arranged in honor of the royal visitors.

The President and Mrs. Hoover were the guests last night at dinner of the Secretary of Agriculture and Mrs. Arthur M. Hyde, the dinner representing the ninth state function honoring the Chief Executive and First Lady this season. Receiving in the Pan-American room at the Mayflower the Secretary and Mrs. Hyde had to meet the honor guests, Mr. Samuel R. McKelvie and Mr. Charles C. Teague, of the Federal Farm Board, and Mrs. Teague; the President of the University of Missouri and Mrs. Walter Williams, Dr. and Mrs. H. L. Burlingham, of St. Louis, the latter Republican national committeewoman from Missouri; Mr. George B. Longan, president of the Kansas City Star, and Mrs. Longan; Mr. Henry J. Haskell, of the Kansas City Star, and Mrs. Haskell; Mr. and Mrs. H. Frank Hoffman, of Trenton, Mo., and Washington, and Mrs. Jacob Leander Loose.

Dinner was served in the Chinese room of the hotel. Ferns with baskets and vases of roses and snapdragons were used for decorations in both the Chinese and Pan-American rooms.

An antique gold service dating back to the period of Louis XVI and similar to one at the White House that was given to Dolly Madison by Alexander Hamilton, First Secretary of the Treasury, was used on the table, the main centerpiece being filled with pink roses and white lilacs, and the two smaller epergnes overflowing with fruit and pink sweetpeas. Delicately tinted pink carnations were also used in four smaller bowls, and pansies and ferns were strewn over the cloth.

The fete was almost in the nature of a farewell dinner on the part of the hostess who will sail from New York on Tuesday for a trip to the Orient. Mrs. Hyde will be accompanied on her journey by Mrs. Kauffman. Visiting Hawaii, the Philippines, China and Japan, they expect to be in the Far East until early in July, when they will sail for San Francisco, where the Secretary of Agriculture, Miss Caroline Hyde and Mr. Kauffman will join them. The group will return by way of the Panama Canal to New York, reaching the metropolis on August 7, after which Mrs. Hyde and her daughter may come to Washington although their plans for the late summer are tentative.

Miss Hyde, who completes her university course at Ann Arbor, Mich., in June, where she is a senior at the University of Michigan, will then go to New Jersey to attend the national convention of Pi Beta Phi Sorority, proceeding from there to the family home in Trenton, Mo., for a few weeks before leaving with her father for the West Coast.

The next Cabinet dinner honoring the President and Mrs. Hoover will take place on May 5, when the Secretary of Commerce and Mrs. Robert Patterson Lamont will entertain.

Mrs. O. C. Kiep, wife of the German Consul General in New York, will close the house, 3229 Idaho avenue, at the end of this month and will go to New York to join Mr. Kiep. They make their home at 25 East Eighty-sixth street.

Miss Catherine C. Critcher is in Roanoke, Va., for a few days, where she is the guest of Bishop and Mrs. Robert C. Jett.

Mrs. Robert W. Taft and her daughter, Miss Mary Frances Taft, of Providence, are making a Southern motor trip planning to arrive in Washington the end of this week.

Two Musical Parties Given By Mrs. Yates

Mrs. Whaley, Southern Singer, and Kindler Presented.

Mrs. Mark Reid Yates entertained at a musicale yesterday afternoon at her home on Massachusetts avenue. The artists were Mrs. France Brown Whaley, mezzo-soprano, and Herr Hans Kindler, pianist. Mrs. Whaley is from Rome, Ga., and has done concert work through the South, where she is widely known, but yesterday was her first appearance in the North. The guests yesterday included women of the Diplomatic Corps and of official and resident society.

Last evening Mrs. Yates entertained at another musicale, when the same artists gave the program. Among the out-of-town guests who came for the musicale were Mr. and Mrs. W. Rippon Lodge Open For Visitors Three Days.

Mr. and Mrs. Wade H. Ellis will open their home at Rippon Lodge, Va., today and tomorrow and Friday for the tour of old places in northern Virginia, which is being conducted under the auspices of the Colonial Dames of Virginia.

Rippon Lodge is the oldest place in the "northern neck" of Virginia, having been built in 1725. Mrs. Ellis will be there to receive the visitors, and with her will be Miss Anne Madison Washington, great-great-great-grandniece of George Washington. Her father was the last person born at Mount Vernon, and so her association with Virginia and those to whom it is dear is very close.

Miss Washington will remain at Rippon Lodge until Saturday, and will then return to Washington to make the final preparations for her trip to Europe, where she will act as official hostess at the International Colonial and Overseas Expositions.

Miss Washington will sail on May 6, with other members of the official party, and will make her home in the reproduction of Mount Vernon, which has been erected in Paris as America's contribution to the exposition.

Padillas Leave Tomorrow For Home in Spain

Retiring Ambassador and Family Depart With Regrets.

The retiring Spanish Ambassador and Senora de Padilla, who will leave Washington for New York tomorrow at 12:30 o'clock, have been much entertained by close friends informally since the news of their departure was made current.

On Sunday night the Minister of Hungary and Countess Szechenyi gave a dinner in their honor, and on Monday evening, the Charge d'Affaires of Italy, Count Alberto Marchetti di Murigalio, entertained them. Last evening Senor Don Ricardo Padilla and Senorita Marichu Padilla, younger son and daughter of the Ambassador and Senora de Padilla, were the guests of Miss Laura Tuckerman at a dinner at the National Woman's Country Club.

It is with deep regret that Washington will bid its official farewell to the Padillas tomorrow, and it is with grateful thanks for the sympathy and many kindnesses which have been shown them that the Ambassador and his family will take their leave.

The final dance of the season to be given by the Georgia State Society will be held Saturday evening at the Washington Hotel.

Mrs. Elizabeth Northup has returned to Washington from a trip around the world, and has taken an apartment in the Shoreham where she will make her home.

YOUR NAME

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

By HARRY A. DEFERRARI, Ph.D.

THE family name "Comber" has come down to us from three sources. In the great majority of cases it is derived from the Old English "cambere," which generally means "the wool-comber." Since wool-combing occupied a very large number of workers in England at the time when occupational names were becoming hereditary, it is natural that occupation has created many family names. In a few cases "Comber" is based on the Anglo-Celtic "combe," and its full significance as a family name is "he who lives at the hollow." A third source of "Comber" is the Anglo-Saxon personal name "Combra." "Combra" (also spelled "Cumbra") is derived from the Old English "cumbor," meaning "the banner" and "the insignia." The Hundred Rolls mentions a certain Richard le Cumbere and a John le Cumbur.

The family name "Kember" is derived from the Old English verb "cemban," meaning "to comb." It means "the wool-comber" and "the flax-comber," and denotes the occupations of the persons who were first so called. This name does not seem to occur in the earliest English records. A London church register of the year 1617 records the marriage of John Neave and Thomasine Kember. "Kember" has frequently become confused with "Kemper," although "Kemper" has a wholly different source.

The family name "Kempster" (also spelled "Kemster") is merely the feminine form of "Kember." It may therefore be translated "the woman who combs wool or flax." This name has always been much more common than "Kember," because wool-combing was originally a feminine occupation. A certain Agnes Kembester is mentioned in an English document of the year 1379.

A Interpret the Mode

Stately white satin evening gown with unusual necklace and bracelet effect of braided silver lame. (A Dah-ray design).

New York, April 29.

MAYBE its the contrast between her daytime clothes, activities and attitude, but certain it is that the modern Madame or Miss is as breathtakingly lovely and beautiful in her evening attire as a fairy princess, or as we imagine our dream Helens and Ninons to have been.

Madame Tollmann, of that famous house of that name, delights in playing upon this contrast. She claims that Dame Fashion is supremely kind in making it posible for the modern woman to enhance her personality and personalities to the extent that is she is four or five women all in one—the idea of possibilities, don't you think?

Imagine hubby getting a bit fed up with a fluffy blonde darling in ruffles and marabou over the morning coffee cups, and imagine the modern Madame Blonde going out to the aviation field at ten for her lesson, changing to a snappy tailleur and meeting him for luncheon. Picture her again calling for him in her roadster, Basque beret and chic scarf floating in the gasoline filled air, looking more like her daughter who has just returned from a European finishing school than daughter herself. And last and not all least, see her robed in a dashingly sophisticated black taffeta pyjamas evening gown, entertaining guests for dinner and being the lovely, interesting, versatile and altogether fascinating modern woman of her times. The men haven't a chance, girls, not a chance! Women don't have time to get tired of themselves even, let alone bore their husbands, thanks to the kindly humor Dame Fashion is in—which the clever woman will use to her every advantage!

• • • •

—The evening dress of the dearest dreams of the loveliest lady, now isn't that just about true of the dress I not only sketched for you today, but designed all by myself? White satin for gracious dignity, I decided. And no jewelry! It would be superfluous with the necklace I made, encircling the neck, and coming of braided and stuffed silver lame, out through slits in the front of the bodice and end in a graceful knot. And I entwined the same braided silver lame in a wide bracelet for the final touch.

• • • •

Suzanne Talbot herself wore the interesting wee hat I have illustrated today. Of exactly the same shade as her hair, this toque perched 'way back on her head, and was adorned with silver lame in a braided coronet effect! This, in the color of your own fair tresses, would be altogether delightful as a Sunday night hat, now wouldn't it?

Don't worry your pretty head a tiny minute if you have just so many dollars to buy a street suit, only you did want to be gay and buy pyjamas too. Lots of Dare's deah public wanted the same combination, and told me so, and so I sat down and did a little serious thinking about what to do in a case like that—and as a result I found out that for just the least little bit of material extra you could have both a chic street suit and a swanky pyjama outfit—for about half of what you'd think posible. Yes, you can make skirt, jacket and pyjamas as easily as nothing at all, almost—if you send your stamped self-addressed envelope right away to the Dare department of The Washington Post for this week's illustrated leaflet. This leaflet gives full and clear directions for making this so-desirable combination. 'n' I'll bet you won't ever tire of devising new, economical and attractive variations from this basic idea.

Are you looking for Dare's weekly fashion letter? You should. It's always in the big Sunday Post.

Indoor and Outdoor Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

WHY PEONIES DO NOT BLOOM.

EACH year about the middle of June I am deluged with letters from readers of this column asking me why their peonies have not bloomed. In reply I offer all sorts of explanations which, while perfectly practical, are too late to be of much use until another year.

This year I have decided to tell you in advance of the time these plants will bloom just what should be done to encourage them to produce a full quota of large, healthy flowers.

The first reason why peonies do not bloom may be the fact that the plants are so old that they have outlived their usefulness. In this case all you can do is to replace the old plants with new ones. Some varieties of peony albiflora are worn out in eight years; other varieties, like festiva maxima, will have a much longer time before they cease flowering. Peony officinalis and peony moutan reach the greatest age of any of the better known peonies.

Peonies that have been recently transplanted usually do not bloom the first season or so after planting. In the average garden they bloom the third year.

If you are moving plants which have been growing in one place in your garden for three or four years, you must, when transplanting, divide the roots if you expect them to continue to flower. When setting out newly purchased stock, do not attempt to divide the roots, because these have no doubt been divided as much or even more than is good for them.

Too deep planting is undoubtedly one reason why peonies, especially those planted by inexperienced gardeners, fail to bloom. Never attempt to plant a root until you are sure the ground which you have previously dug has had ample opportunity to settle. If the root is planted before the ground has settled it is naturally carried down with the earth and is therefore too deep. Where the ground has settled, set the roots so that the topmost eye will be between two or three inches below the surface of the soil. In light soils they may be set three or three and a half inches.

Never plant roots in poorly drained soil or where the ground is too dry. Constant shade always means few if any flowers. Plants which are suffering from root-gall or bud blast are never likely to bloom well.

While experienced growers may fertilize their plants with phosphoric acid, muriate of potash or nitrate of soda, I think the amateur may do more harm than good with these chemicals. Even manure, unless used with great care, may harm the plants. For this reason I think the average grower will get better results by feeding peonies with bonemeal or wood ashes (not coal ashes). These may be slower than chemical fertilizers, but in the long run they are better. Do not permit either wood ashes or bonemeal to come into direct contact with the roots. Better scatter them over the surface of the soil and let the water carry them down to the feeding roots.

From now until your peonies bloom, keep them well watered. Feed them bonemeal twice between this and the time they bloom. When the buds form you may, if you want large flowers, remove some of the lateral buds. Single varieties and in fact some of the other varieties are more beautiful without disbudding.

Wives of Tomorrow

FRANCES M'DONALD

Getting Him Back.

DEAR Frances McDonald: I am just an average girl of 22 and have been almost engaged to a man of 29 for nearly a year. By nearly I mean he has come every night, asked me to give up all others—there was only one other really—and been like a member of the family.

Now, for no apparent reason, he has become irregular in his calls, coming some weeks only twice. My folks remark it and I do not know what to tell them. He acts about the same. And I try to. But you can understand that I feel resentful and can not act entirely as I did before. Yet I realize that being a woman I have exactly no right whatever to be resentful at all as he has when you come down to it very carefully avoided placing himself in a position where I could justifiably become resentful.

The truth is I feel he has tired and although he has not yet replaced me, I feel that is merely a matter of time once he tires. So what I really want to know is how I could get him back without loss of dignity? There was no quarrel, he is just easing out of the picture—what can I do.

IRMA.

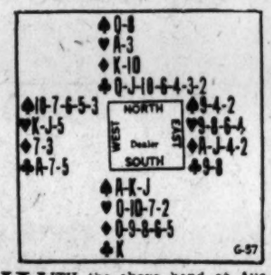
Help him out. Tell him when next he jauntily appears, that you have been wondering whether after all you should have promised to go with only one man. Tell him that you would like to be released from that promise—which by the way is one no man has a right to ask of a girl before he has proposed marriage. The fact that he asked it makes him appear from this distance as a rather impossible persons to start with. Are you sure you want him back? You know, Irma, it is perfectly terrible to meet in after years the men you once thought ravishing. It is nothing less than mortifying. It makes you feel like yelling to everyone else to stop, look and listen. And so in your case I am inclined to think that you are merely feeling as you would if the radio or the telephone were suddenly removed. A bit lost for something to do with your evenings.

Few things happen in life that are not in the scheme. It is nothing less than weird, Irma, the way the pieces of the pattern fit. It may not appear at the moment. But next week, next year, sometime the piece is found that fits the place made for it by some seeming loss. In welcoming back unsatisfactory lovers, warming over cooled loves, I often wonder what women are about. The world is so very wide, men are so very easy to like, and so terribly eager to be liked, it seems absurd to pick out one faulty specimen and say "now this is the one and only. He may be stupid, crude, even at times a bore, but I have picked him and even if he turns out to be a liar, or a slacker, or a traitor, he is mine, and I will have no other," when tomorrow or next week we could meet a man who would not hire him as an errand boy. Why such stupidity?

Get a little more adventure, Irma, before you decide that your world is encompassed by the comings and goings of some yokel who orders your life before asking the honor of sharing yours. Show me the man who expects more than he gives and I will show you a good man to pass on to someone else! Take my advice and choose another man. But in any case, tell this one that you want other than his undiluted charm. And mean it.

WORK ON BRIDGE

THE VALUE OF ENTRIES



WITH the above hand at Auction Bridge, South would bid one No Trump and obtain an uncontested contract.

At Contract Bridge South would bid one No Trump, North three Clubs and South three No Trumps. The one No Trump bid at Contract would be involved in some doubt because hands are rare with which No Trump should be bid with a singleton King. This hand is one of the exceptions; counting 15, it is far too strong to pass and neither of the Queen-high suits presents an attractive bid.

North, with a count of 14, has ample strength to bid three No Trumps; but with even Clubs, would deem the forcing three-Club bid to be the safer declaration.

When West led his fourth best Spade against the No Trump, Declarer passed it up to the three sure winners in the South hand taking East's Nine with the Jack. South then led the King of Clubs which West declined to cover. South next tried a low Diamond, finessing the Ten; but East won with the Jack and led another Spade. South, winning, continued the Diamonds; East took the King with the Ace and led a third Spade. South of course won, but it established West's Spades. South now was in position to cash three Diamonds and then to put dummy in with the Ace of Hearts; but dummy's Clubs not being established, West captured all the remaining tricks with his King of Hearts, his Ace of Clubs and his thirteen Spades.

Could the Declarer have avoided this catastrophe?

THE CORRECT PLAY

The correct play of this hand is simple. Declarer should have won the first trick with the Ace or King of Spades (preferably the former instead of the Jack. And then should have led his King of Clubs. If West did not cover, the Jack of Spades putting dummy in would enable dummy to establish his Clubs, and the Ace of Hearts would enable him to run them. This would insure six Club tricks in addition to three Spades and a Heart.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"TAURUS"

IF April 29th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8:30 a. m. to 10:30 a. m. from 3:30 p. m. to 5:05 p. m. and from 7:10 p. m. to 9:15 p. m. The danger hours are from 11:30 a. m. to 1:45 p. m. and from 9:30 p. m. to 11 p. m.

Many good opportunities will, so the signs denote, present themselves on April 29th, and it is necessary to be more than usually on the "qui vive." There is a danger of over-estimation of ability, and every effort must be made to guard against any such eventuality.

Children born on this April 29 will be, acording to their horoscope, long-lived and materially successful. As they mature, they will prove to be far-sighted, determined and well-balanced. They will have a keen sense of justice and love their home ties above all else.

Born on April 29, you will, all through life, be fortunate in being helped and assisted by others. You will not, of course, depend on this for success, but it will prove to be a very powerful factor in your career. Others wil come to your assistance, not because they are asked to do so, but because of the natural charm which you show in every relationship of life, and because of the absolute sincerity of your character.

You are a hard worker, energetic and constant. Neither in youth nor old age will you ever become a slacker. Your temperament is equable, and it takes a great deal to ruffle your feelings. When, however, these are aroused, you can "let fly" just as excitedly as the next one. You keep your promises, and never assume an obligation that you can not perform. You are truthful, even in little things. This is the acid test of veracity.

Your horoscope indicates a fair amount of success and a large degree of happiness. Your outlook on life is tolerant and sympathetic, but you never assume the troubles of others, or attempt the role of a "buttinsky." Your home life promises to be placid, full of quiet contentment and enduring felicity.

Successful people born April 29:
Jacob W. Bailey, naturalist.
William J. Le Moyne, actor.

No woman should risk unknown substitutes for Kotex

There's health risk in cheaply-made pads of questionable hygienic purity.

THERE'S one time to be cautious—that's when you hear the expression, "just like Kotex."

How do you know it's just like Kotex? Who stands back of it? Where was it made? How? By whom? Is it, like Kotex, used by hospitals from coast to coast?

Kotex is safe

Those words, "just like Kotex," mean much more, you see, than surface resemblance. It's easy to make a pad that looks like Kotex. Far, far harder to make one that meets the rigid Kotex standards of purity, of cleanliness, of perfect hygienic safety.

After all, why take chances? You know Kotex is safe. It is treated to deodorize. It is adjustable. Last year more than 10,000,000 pads were used by hospitals alone — their choice of Kotex should be your guide.

Kotex may cost a few pennies more than some questionable substitute, of whose makers you know nothing. But those few cents guarantee a product that meets your personal ideals of cleanliness, as well as hygienic safety.

Perfect comfort

You have every possible comfort in Kotex. Careful shaping, for comfort and inconspicuous lines. Super-softness . . . that lasts . . . because Kotex is made of Cellucotton (not cotton) absorbent wadding, which absorbs scientifically, away from the surface.

Kotex Company, Chicago.

IN HOSPITALS . . .
1 The Kotex absorbent is the identical material used by surgeons in 85% of the country's leading hospitals.
2 Kotex is soft . . . Not merely an apparent softness, that soon packs into chafing hardness. But a delicate, lasting softness.
3 Can be worn on either side with equal comfort. No embarrassment.
4 Disposable, instantly, completely.

360 Days in Jail Given Man as Horse Thief

The memory of man was taxed yesterday when a man accused of being a horse thief was sentenced to serve 360 days in jail. No one could remember the last person to be thus convicted, and to Charles Jackson, Negro, was given the dubious honor. It was charged he took an animal belonging to his mother, sold it to a man who intended to fatten it for carnivorous animals at the zoo, and pocketed $5.

The buyer became suspicious and turned the horse over to the police. Its origin was traced back to its last legitimate owner, and Jackson was arrested and charged with petty larceny. The owner, Mrs. Ada Jackson, missed the animal from its stall two weeks ago.

SUMMER

The luxurious warmth and leisure comfort of spring and summer can be yours all next winter and every winter if you want it. When cold days come, you can light a match and turn on summer in your home if you have installed Automatic Gas Heat.

And Washington knows it! In thousands of homes, large and small, in every part of the city, winter discomfort and drudgery have been banished forever. No more furnace tending in these homes, no more dust or soot or vapors, no more dangerous sudden changes in temperature. In these homes forever more, winter will be just another pleasant season of steady warmth and effortless ease.

Why let your neighbors have all the comfort? Ten per cent cash is all that is needed to install Automatic Gas Heat in your home now, and the balance can be paid—beginning next September—in easy amounts as you enjoy this marvelous modern convenience.

The new low rate for house-heating in the District comes out at approximately 75 cents a thousand cubic feet as compared with the old rate of $1. Phone our Househeating Department, National 8280, for a careful estimate of the cost for your particular home. There's no obligation, and this is information every family should have.

Lace Jacket Frocks

In Soft Pastel Colors Are Very Prominent

New things have been done with lace dresses! In the first place they all flaunt their own little jacket (it's fashionable, you know, to cover your shoulders). Peplums have been stiffened to give a pert gesture to the silhouette. Net has been added to give soft transparent effects about the ankles! And their colors—white, flesh, turquoise, maize, beige, blue and black.

Sketched Above:

Lace, when stiffened, becomes regal and stately for formal summer evenings! Fashioned of a very fine lace, in flesh and with a little eton jacket. $39.50.

Sketched Below:

An exceptionally lovely model of soft, ethereal silk lace in a heavenly shade of pink; jacket with the new weeper sleeves, so romantically feminine. $25.00.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL.

RARELY is such naivete encountered in the theater as was put on view to case-hardened Broadway by the recent visit to New York of the authors of two of Gotham's most sensational theatrical hits. Neither can quite understand why his work has taken such a hold on public fancy.

Vicki Baum, vivacious Viennese, insists, according to Mark Barron, that her "Grand Hotel" is fashioned strictly after the novel form, rather than that of drama. After its failure as a play in Berlin she is practically nonplussed by the enthusiastic cheers it inspires on these shores.

Miss Baum has been lured to Hollywood to write for the talking screen, but has promised to remain on the West Coast only if she likes the people and the climate she finds there. In case she cares for neither, she will return to that dear Berlin and then tour the Orient.

The second New York visitor was Roark Bradford, from whose writings the play "Green Pastures" was dramatized. After a fortnight in the big city, the New Orleans author hurriedly departed for the restful banks of the Mississippi. And for the same reason that "Cool" Kelly wanted to marry Bertha in "It's a Wise Child," current at the National—to get some sleep!

Bradford said that he is going to write more books, but has no ambition to do a play. If he does, I hope Rose O'Neil Latham will illustrate them all.

Following hard on the heels of "Up Pops the Devil," which popped into a full-blown local hit at the Belasco Monday night, will come another new comedy into the same house, but prior to, instead of following, its Broadway premiere. Reference, of course, is made to "A Modern Virgin," a Shubert production, which opened in Atlantic City while Washington was getting its first glimpse of "Up Pops, &c."

This is the Elmer Harris play that brings Herbert Rawlinson back to the Capital in the leading male role. Mr. Harris you will remember for his authorship of "Young Sinners," "The Great Necker," "Canary Cottage," "So Long, Letty" and other popular successes of the lighter sort. Others in the cast include Margaret Sullavan; Robert Strange, Nicholas Joy, Pauline Denton, Fred L. Lewis, Alfred Kappeler, Loretta Shea, Cynthia Rogers, Paddy Reynolds, Audrey Corday, John Bramall and Boris Nikolai.

"A Modern Virgin," from the present outlook—which is always subject to sudden, and even last minute, change—will be the season's final booking at the Belasco.

Another unusual stock company venture will be essayed by the National Theater Players next week when "Death Takes a Holiday" will be the bill.

This play, which has nothing whatever to do with the hereafter, but, on the contrary, deals with a wholly present-day topic, was written by the noted Italian playwright, Alberto Casella.

Stanley Ridges will have the coveted opportunity to play the role created on the stage by Philip Merivale, and Nancy Sheridan, the new leading woman, will be conspicuously cast—with the other popular members of the E street troupe also congenially assigned.

The week's engagement will begin on Sunday night, the proceeds of the extra premiere performance to be turned over to the Washington Board of Trade in furtherance of its "Greater National Capital" movement.

Nineteen local musical organizations, including glee clubs, mixed choruses, orchestras and an ensemble of 40 violins, will participate in the observance of National Music Week at the Fox Theater, beginning Friday. Each will be heard in a ten-minute program.

Three handsome silver cups have been offered by the Fox management for the competing organizations adjudged best—one to be awarded to the best senior singing organization, one to the best high school chorus and one to the best instrumental club.

The senior singing organizations thus far enrolled include the George Washington University Male Glee Club and mixed chorus, both under the direction of Dr. Robert H. Harmon; the American University Men's Glee Club, under Harlan Randall; the Students' Choral Society of 40 voices under LeRoy Lewis; the National City Christian Church Choir, under direction of William E. Braithwaite; the Wilnor Glee Club, of Wilson Teachers College, under Mrs. Bernice Randall Angelico; and the Marjorie Webster School Glee Club, with Mrs. Jewell Downs accompanying and directing.

The public high schools will be represented by the Lyric Club (girls), and the Central Songsters (mixed), of Central High School, under Mrs. Janet W. Torbert; both the Boys' and the Girls' Glee Clubs of Business High School, under Miss Emma Louise Thompson; the McKinley High School Boys' Glee Club, Mrs. Bella Thompson, directress; the Eastern High School Girls' Glee Club, Mrs. Frank Byram, directress; the Eastern High School Boys' Glee Club, Miss Louise Wood, directress; and the Columbia Junior High School Boys' Glee Club, Miss Hannah Bonnell, directress.

Next week will be "old home week" at the Earle Theater. Charile Melson, headlining the vaudeville portion of the entertainment scheduled to begin on Saturday, was one of the most popular of the masters of ceremonies who presided at the Thirteenth street house during the early days of its "presentation" policy.

But that isn't all. It seems that Mr. Melson's first big hit in the East—he is a Californian—was scored as master of ceremonies at the Branford Theater in Newark, N. J. He was discovered by Harry Crull, who happens to be the present manager of the Fox Theater in this city, and was "put over" in a big way by Frank La Falce, now in charge of advertising and publicity at the Earle. I wouldn't be surprised if Mike Cullen, at the Palace, was in on it in one way or another, too.

There will be goings-on, no fooling!

If the blowing off of those manhole covers could only have been deferred 24 hours, it might all have been passed off as part of the pent-up enthusiasm celebrating the arrival in Washington of the Custodian of Those 24 Umbrellas. And he would have needed them all!

G. W. Instructor to Go to Cornell.

Dr. Edgar A. J. Johnson, associate professor of economics at the George Washington University, yesterday was appointed assistant professor of economics at Cornell University, according to an announcement of President Livingston Farrand.

It would cost $2,250 to send postcards to all the readers that can be reached any morning by Post Classified Ads.

Citizens Association To Hear Commissioners

Dr. Luther H. Reichelderfer and Maj. Gen Herbert B. Crosby, District Commissioners, will address the Rhode Island Avenue Citizens Association at 8 o'clock tonight at the Sherwood Sunday School Hall, Twenty-second street and Rhode Island avenue northeast.

The program also will include musical numbers by the McKinley High School Band and vocal selections by William Atherholt and Mrs. Eppa N. Norris.

Chemists to Hear Dr. Gortner.

Dr. Ross A. Gortner, professor of biochemistry at the University of Minnesota, will address the Washington chapter, American Institute of Chemists, at 7 o'clock tonight at the Cosmos Club.

PAIN after eating

WHAT many call "indigestion" is very often nothing but excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food sours. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acids instantly. The best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained the standard anti-acid with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali will neutralize instantly many times as much acid, and the symptoms disappear at once. You will never use crude methods when once you learn the efficiency of this more pleasant way. A small bottle is sufficient to show its merit.

Be sure to get genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for more than 50 years in correcting excess acid. 25c and 50c a bottle; any drugstore. Complete directions for its many uses are enclosed with every bottle.

CAMELS

THAT'S WHY THE GREAT COUNTRY-WIDE SWITCH TO CAMELS

Since the introduction of Camels in the Humidor Pack it has taxed even our tremendous production to supply the great new demand. It seems that literally everybody is switching to Camels.

It's not because the tobacco in this cigarette is better than before. We have always used the choicest Turkish and Domestic tobacco money and long experience could buy.

The real reason, while Camel sales have been soaring to new high peaks, is that now for the first time, millions are learning what a joy a fine cigarette in prime, fresh condition can be.

Loss of moisture due to scorching or evaporation from old style packages leaves cigarettes harsh and dry.

Dryness and peppery dust are the things that plague a smoker's throat.

We vacuum-clean away the dust and wrap perfectly conditioned Camels in a special air-sealed, moisture-proof Cellophane coat to keep the natural freshness in and keep the germs out.

So now, no matter where you buy Camels, you get them in factory-fresh, mild condition. The exclusive new wrapper acts as a tiny humidor.

If you haven't tried Camels in this Humidor Pack, switch over for just one day. Then leave them tomorrow if you can.

HOW IT BEGAN

By Russ Murphy and Ray Sermusky

Those Bock Beer Signs

WE'VE BEEN ASKED WHAT CONNECTION A GOAT HAS WITH BOCK BEER. THIS BREW WAS FIRST MADE IN EINBECK, GERMANY. THE GERMANS CORRUPTED THE NAME, EINBECK BEER, TO BOCK BEER. "BOCK" IS AN EAST INDIAN WORD FOR GOAT, AND THAT'S WHY A GOAT'S HEAD APPEARS ON BOCK BEER SIGNS.

Navvy

BEFORE RAILROADS WERE BUILT, CANALS WERE THE MOST CONVENIENT AND ECONOMICAL MEANS FOR HAULING FREIGHT. CANAL DIGGERS AND DITCH DIGGERS WERE CALLED "NAVIES" A HUMOROUS CORRUPTION OF "NAVIGATORS." LATER WHEN SUCH LABORERS MADE RAILROAD BEDS INSTEAD OF CANAL BEDS, THE NAME STUCK TO THEM.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

SPRING CLEANING

THE time for spring cleaning is here. This statement is intended to settle just one question, and that is time. It takes for granted that there should be cleaning at least once a year, and also that spring is the season for it.

If we look over the world we find that nowhere is there a dirty people, who are a healthy people, and, conversely, the clean people are the healthy people. The curve for health and the graduation of cleanliness come near to running parallel.

When we study the relative health of nations we find that the Hollanders are right at the top. The study does not make it plain why this is, and then finally we wonder, is it not because they are clean? Their reputation for cleanliness is even better established than is their renown for having low death rates. The cities, as a rule, are cleaner than the villages, in this country at least. And we find that the cities have the lower death rates. The cities with reputations for cleanliness generally boast of good health also.

If the comparison is made by centuries we find that health improves as cleanliness does. The dark and dirty ages are those with the high death rates. London in the plague year was an unspeakably filthy place.

In explaining the fallen death rate from consumption, we agree that improved standards of living have been the largest single factor. A higher standard of cleanliness is an important part of this higher standard of living. We know that the principal reason for the great decrease in typhoid fever is the fact that men are more cleanly than they were. They will not drink water unless it is clean.

We know that ship fever, typhus, plague, and cholera can not seem to make any headway among our people during the last half century. Some of us do not know that it is because we are too clean.

Somehow the springtime has always been regarded as the cleaning time. The bears in the caves and birds in the trees—all wild things know it and always have. And so does man.

There is another reason for saying "this is the time." It is the time because it has been so agreed on, and when men agree on a thing they stand by the agreement.

SEVERAL POSSIBILITIES.

W. B. C. writes:

1. What is the cause of a boy of 18 having boils? For two months they have kept coming, and are dreadful sores. What is lacking in the blood?
2. What can be done to cure them?
3. Should they be poulticed or lanced?

REPLY

1. There is more than one possibility. Diabetes is one. Eating too much starch and sugar is another. Dirty skin a third. Some exposure to skin injury due to occupation a fourth.
2. Phage is an excellent remedy, but the principal treatment should be directed at whatever is found to be the causes—direct and contributing.
3. As a rule, poulticing does harm. There are exceptions. Lancing is generally done too early.

WASHINGTON: WEDNESDAY, APRIL 29, 1931. 13

NATS AND YANKS BATTLE TO 7-7 TIE FOR 14 INNINGS

Another Ring Victory for Goldstein

D. C. Boy Enters Thir Round in A. A. U. Title Tourney.

Finishes Strongly to Outpoint McLain, Buffalo Negro.

Special to The Washington Post.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, April 28.—Repeating his performance of the opening day of the tournament, Robert Goldstein, of the University of Virginia, Washington's outstanding amateur fisticuffer in the National A. A. U. tournament being conducted here, gained admittance to the third-round of this four-day competition by outpointing Leonard McLain, Buffalo Negro, in three rounds of hectic action tonight.

Goldstein won the decision by a superior display of aggressive boxing, though his colored opponent forced him to the limit. Out scored in the early rounds by the Buffalo boy, Goldstein came back in the closing minutes of the second and third rounds to pepper McLain with some sharp jarring jabs which forced the fast tiring Negro on the defensive and earned for the Washington boy the decision.

McLain was a trifle wild in the early rounds, but he managed to connect with some healthy blows which temporarily stopped Goldstein. Some clever boxing by the Washington boy, however, kept his opponent at bay until he had recovered sufficiently, and then he sailed in with some sweet thrusts to the body and head to gain the judges' approval.

Shub, Tardugno Eliminated.

Leon Shub, of the Washington Jewish Community Center, and Mike Tardugno, representing the same organization, were both eliminated in tonight's bouts.

Shub's battle was one of the early ones on the long program. Competing in the 118-pound class, he encountered Mike Belloise, of New York, in a fast and furious fray which was concentrated action while it lasted. Shub forced the fight in the first round, weaving in and out to land some hard jabs all over his opponent's body. But a wild, high blow in the midriff late in the opening stanza shook him up considerably and thereafter he was never the same.

He came back in the second a bit groggy, but again he engaged in a nice exchange of telling blows. Another jab to the head sent him down to the canvas and when he got up it was evident that the end was not long in sight. He went down for a second time, sprawling, and the referee stopped the bout. The time was 1 minute and eight seconds of the second round.

Tardugno Beaten in Extra Round.

Then scrappy little Mike Tardugno, spotting his opponent the advantage in height and reach but not in heart or aggressiveness went down to defeat before David Day, of Chicago, in the 126-pound class in a battle which required an extra round to decide it. This was undoubtedly one of the peppiest of the early tilts and when Tardugno left the ring he was rewarded with a spontaneous burst of applause from the crowd.

Tardugno, a tough, wiry little Italian, peppered the more rangy Day, who won his bout in the opening round yesterday, with hard lefts and rights which drew blood from the Chicago boy's nose early in the first round. Day was floored in the second but not for long. He rushed in to take the advantage by a series of quick, deft jabs which jarred Tardugno, but failed to stop his savage onslaughts. At the end of the third they were declared even and another round was ordered. In the fourth, Tardugno was evidently tired and here the superior reach of Day served him in good stead, for he continued to hold the Washington boy at arm's length to the end.

Shipley Leads Golf Play With 77

Tops Stevinson by Stroke in Qualifying at Washington.

Only 6 Better 80; Lower Cards Are Expected Today.

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST.

THE spring invitation tournament of the Washington Golf and Country Club opened most successfully yesterday in every way except as an exhibition of brilliant golf. Weather sunny, but cool, a course in fine condition, a record-breaking entry list and the hospitality of the club dispensed in its usual generous fashion made a combination which contributed to the satisfactory inauguration of the event.

The scores, however, were uniformly high, due to the prevalence of a strong wind, the use of the new larger and lighter ball and the fact that practically all of the contestants were playing summer rules for the first time in many months. M. A. Shipley, of the Argyle Club, led the field with 40—37—77, with Miller B. Stevinson, Columbia, winner of the tournament last year, one stroke behind, 40—38—78.

Only Six Able To Break 80.

Only six players were able to break 80 in their qualifying round and there were only fourteen with 82 and under. With approximately 200 contestants teeing off, only 65 turned in their cards. In the remaining half of the field contesting today it is possible that there will be better scoring.

Both Shipley and Stevinson were out in 40, but the former came home in 37, while Stevinson took 38, losing a stroke when his ball collided with a cedar tree on the fifteenth hole. Stevinson, however, secured his 78 only after a continuous struggle around the course. He started by driving into a trap and thereafter had difficulty in accurately judging his approaches and was saved from a card in the 80's by five one-putt greens.

Belshe and Hunter Go Out in 38.

T. M. Belshe, Indian Spring, was out in 38, playing the first nine even with J. Monro Hunter, jr., Indian Spring, but the latter encountered five three-putt greens on his homeward journey, which ruined his score. The cards of the two leaders:

Cissell's Home Run Defeats Detroit, 6-5

Chicago, April 28 (A.P.).—The first White Sox home run of the season, hit by bill Cissell in the seventh inning, was sufficient to give the Hose a 6 to 5 win over the Detroit Tigers here this afternoon. George Uhle was pitching at the time, having relieved Vic Sorrell at the start of the inning.

Pat Caraway went the route for the White Sox to win his second victory of the season. He allowed eleven hits, six of them coming in the second and seventh, the only frames in which he was hit hard. Sorrell did not allow a hit until the fourth but the Hose hit him hard from then on to take the decision.

Nine doubles were hit during the contest, and one triple and a home run.

TEMPLE NINE 9-8 VICTIM OF G. U.

13 Errors Mar Game; Poole Goes Route for Hilltoppers.

By JACK ESPEY.

GEORGETOWN swung back to the victory column after two straight defeats yesterday by taking a 9-to-8 decision from Temple University in a loosely played game at Hilltop Field. It was college baseball at its worst, neither team earning half its run total, with thirteen errors of commission and many of omission cropping up throughout the two-and-a-half-hour melee.

Temple was charged with seven errors and Georgetown one less, while in hitting the visitors collected a total of eleven safeties to fourteen for the Blue and Gray.

Pitcher Hal Poole, of Georgetown, was kept in hot water most of the time through fielding deficiencies of his mates, coupled with his own generosity in the matter of allowing hits, but he stuck manfully to his task and finished in strong style.

Tying Temple Run Dies on Third.

Temple had the tying run on third base with only one out, following which Poole forced Carl to pop. Capt. Jack Bonner to roll to Scalzi and Pinch Hitter Kemp to ground out to the box.

Capt. Bonner's fielding was typical of the type served up on both sides. He dropped two easy pop flies in the infield. One of these opened a Georgetown rally in the eighth inning which netted two runs and provided the margin of victory.

Walter Morris led off for Georgetown in the eighth and was safe as Bonner made his second error. Capt. Johnny Scalzi also got life when Ford messed up his grounder at short. Bob Wholey then made his third single to score Morris, and Scalzi counted a moment later on the front end of a double steal engineered with Wholey's help.

Trailing 9-6, Temple all but tied the score in the ninth. Rambone, Whittock and Clouser singled in succession, the first named scoring on the third hit and Whittock registering when O'Toole allowed the ball to trickle through his legs at the plate.

Poole then clamped on the brakes as already mentioned.

Browns Score 8 in 9th, Lose to Tribe in 10th

Cleveland, Ohio, April 28 (A.P.).—Staging as wild a finish as was ever seen here, the Cleveland Indians today won a 10-to-9 decision in ten innings over the St. Louis Browns in their first game of the season.

The Browns scored eight runs in the ninth inning to take a 9-to-6 lead, only to see Cleveland tie it up in their half and then add a run in the extra inning for the win. The Browns batted around and three over in the wild ninth, making nine hits, including two each for Storti and Mellilo. Three hits and two errors gave the Indians three runs and a tie. Then, after Walter Miller had retired the Browns in the tenth, Averill was safe on an error and went around on singles by Hodapp, Vosmik and Myatt, a pinch hitter.

Catawba Trounces Bridgewater, 1 0 to 3

Special to The Washington Post.

Harrisonburg, Va., April 28.—Catawba College, of North Carolina, presenting an outfit of heavy hitters today walloped Bridgewater College 10 to 3. The game was marred by the Eagles' sloppy fielding caused by high wind and dust. The Tarheels got started in the fourth when Rader hit a home run with two on base.

Appanaitis collected four hits, two of them doubles. Shaver hit a triple and a double for Bridgewater. Jim Moyers Bridgewater ace was hit hard and retired in the fifth. Miller limited Bridgewater to seven hits and was master after the first inning. Catawba plays here again tomorrow.

Heavy Title Not Involved In Carnera-Sharkey Fight

New York Athletic Commission Withholds Championship "Label" for Bout at Brooklyn June 10, But May Change Mind.

NEW YORK, April 28 (A.P.).—Jack Sharkey and Primo Carnera will fight 15 rounds at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, June 10, legal entanglements and weather permitting, but it will not be for the New York State Athletic Commission's heavyweight championship of the world.

The commission today gave its blessing to the proposed meeting of the Boston sailor and the ponderous Italian but withheld title recognition. The explanation given by Chairman James A. Farley was that no request had been made for title recognition.

Farley indicated the matter might be considered at a later date, leaving the way open for the commission to designate the winner as champion if it desired.

Apparently the sad ending of the Sharkey-Max Schmeling fight, labeled a championship match, and which went to Schmeling on a foul in the fourth round, has cured the commission of labeling something "championship" which may turn out to be merely another heavyweight fight.

The commission obstacle safely hurdled, a foregone conclusion when Carnera was reinstated a week ago, James J. Johnston, promoter of the fight, now has only to worry about the threatened suit by Madison Square Garden, a subsidiary of which holds a contract with Carnera calling for him to meet the winner of the Schmeling-Young Stribling fight, scheduled for Cleveland, July 3.

The commission issued an ultimatum to Maxie Rosenbloom, light heavyweight champion, ordering him to accept one of three challenges to his title, on file with the commission, or take the consequences, which would mean suspension. The three challenges are from Jimmy Slattery, of Buffalo, Joe Banovic, of Binghamton, and Billy Jones, of Philadelphia.

Phils Beat Braves By Run in 9th, 9-8

Philadelphia, Pa., April 28 (A.P.).—The Phils pushed over a run in the last half in the ninth inning to defeat the Braves here today, 9 to 8.

Most of the scoring was done in the first three innings. After this the game developed into a pitcher's contest. There were twelve doubles and two triples in the course of the afternoon. The defeat pushed the Braves out of first place.

New York, April 28 (A.P.).—The Brooklyn Robins pounded Clarence Mitchell for eleven hits today, but they lost their tenth game of the season to the Giants, 3 to 2. It was the Robins' Ninth defeat by a southpaw. Watson Clark held the Giants to four hits.

While their opponents were passing up many opportunities, the Giants made the best of their four blows off Watson Clark. A pass, Jackson's triple and an outfield fly scored two runs in the second inning, and singles by Critz and Lindstrom put across the winner in the third.

Darkness Ends Deadlock After Manush's 'Squeeze' Play Ties Game in Ninth

Bunt Climaxes Nats' 3-Run Rally Against Roy Sherid.

Lack Punch in Extra Innings; Yanks Are Halted by Fischer.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

MANAGER Walter Johnson's Nationals are not living up to their advance press notices in mechanical play; but they are showing plenty of fight, the result being a fourteen-inning 7-to-7 tie with the Yankees yesterday after 3 hours and 46 minutes of battling, with the moon starting to shine when hostilities finally were called off.

McCarthy's battered New Yorkers forged into a 3-run lead in the first four rounds, were finally caught at 4-all in the fifth, stepped 3 to the good in the seventh and eighth, and the Nationals staged a brilliant 3-run stand in the ninth to catch them again.

It was in the five extra frames that the small gallery was given most of its real thrills, particularly in the tenth and eleventh, although the Nats had at least one man on the bases in all of these rounds. Meanwhile, young Carl Fischer, who had succeeded Fred Marberry, called to "Sad Sam" Jones' relief in the sixth, was performing in the most approved style, and he granted nary a hit to the Yankee fence busters after he got in action starting the first extra frame.

Sherid Lasts Until 9th.

Roy Sherid started on the hill for the visitors; and although he was hit hard, he managed to last, thanks to the efforts of his mates in run-coining, until one was dead in the ninth. It was in this round that the Nats gave their followers their first chance to do some lusty cheering. Sherid hit Spencer; and after pinch-hitter Baxter Jordan lofted to Walker Myer doubled Spencer home.

Vernon Gomez, a speedy young southpaw, rushed to the hill and Harry Rice greeted him with a triple, scoring Myer and putting the tying run on third. Manush then pulled a perfect "squeeze" to knot the count.

West opened the tenth with a double and it looked as though the Nats would end the game then and there. Judge was purposely passed and, after Bluege popped foul to Gehrig, Spencer coaxed a pass, filling the bases. Every one expected Manager Johnson to send in a pinch-hitter for Fischer, but the Nat leader evidently decided that the pitcher at least could poke out a long fly. Instead, Carl fanned, putting it up to Myer. Groans could be heard throughout the stadium when Myer followed suit.

Cronin and West Single in 11th.

With two gone in the eleventh Cronin and West singled in succession, but they were left when Judge fouled to Walker, while a walk to Bluege, first up in the twelfth, helped none when Spencer hit into a double play.

Myer opened the thirteenth with a one-baser, but tried a delayed steal and was nipped, and after West had singled in the fourteenth, Dickey outguessed the Nats by calling for a pitch-out with the hit-and-run on and West was easily caught at second.

But for an error my Myer in the twelfth and a walk to Lazzeri in the fourteenth, Fischer would have mowed down his foes in order in every one of the extra frames.

Four miscues were charged to the Nationals, one each by Harry Rice and Bluege giving the Yanks their run in the third. Lary made the only one charged to the visitors and it figured in a Washington marker, making it 50-50 in this respect.

West's 4 Hits Lead Attack.

Sam West made his season's debut and, although he misjudged two balls, letting one go as a hit, he came through with a sensational catch in the thirteenth to rob Chapman of at least a double, while he led the Nats on attack with four hits, one a lusty triple, which started the first home rally. Joe Judge also used his bat effectively, smacking out a double and two single his first three trips to the tee.

Jimmy Reese, banished from the game by Umpire McGowan in the seventh for differing too strongly with the arbiter regarding a third strike, was on the job long enough to show the way to the Yankee hitters. He was credited with a homer in the fifth, when Harry Rice was unable to cutt off his drive to right center, while two singles also fell to his lot. Tony Lazzeri and Fred Walker, the latter just recalled from Toledo, also poked out a trio of safeties, two of Walker's being doubles.

LADDER WINS JENNINGS HANDICAP, EQUALS RECORD

Salmon Colt Nose Ahead In Stake

Happy Scot Beaten in Duel in Sprint Run in 1:11 3-5.

Con Amore Breaks on Top, Romps Home in Fifth Race.

By J. B. SNODGRASS.
Special to The Washington Post.

PIMLICO RACE TRACK, Md., April 28.—The ninth renewal of the Jennings, a 6-furlong sprint, found Walter J. Salmon's Preakness and Kentucky Derby hope, Ladder, running 6 furlongs in 1:11 3-5 to equal Dinna Care's time for the race, hung out in 1923, and net his owner a $3,250 purse.

Louis Schaefer, who piloted Ladder, broke him fast, but was outrun to the stretch turned by Cary T. Grayson's Happy Scot.

Turning for home Ladder came up fast to be on equal terms with Happy Scot at the sixteenth pole. They fought it out stride by stride to the wire, where Schaefer shoved his mount's head in front.

It was an extremely popular score with the 15,000 fans, which accounts for the short price of $4.40.

Trailing Ladder and Happy Scot to the wire came the Sagamore Stable's Rip Van Winkle and C. V. Whitney's Pennate in the order named.

Ruby Keller Romps Home in Sixth.

The Tasker, a mile-and-one-sixteenth affair, proved just a workout for J. P. McGovern's Ruby Kellar, the favorite.

Jockey Joe Serio restrained her back of the pace for three-quarters of a mile, where she went to the top to win handily from Mrs. Clyde P. Phillips' Peter Peter, with William Garth's Bedford Boy, the early pacemaker, third.

J. Y. W. Martin's Con Amore broke on top and made every post of the 6-furlong journey of the Woodberry a winning one.

Trailing the filley to the wire came C. V. Whitney's Summer Day, with A. C. Bostwick's Scuttle third.

War Plane Scores By Stretch Rush.

The Glen Riddle Farm's War Plane, 2-year-old chestnut gelded son of American Flag—Milky Way, raced four and one-half furlongs in 0:55 4-5 to win the day's opening event.

A crowd of 15,000 turned out. The weather conditions were ideal, while the track was fast.

War Plane broke on top, but was outrun by Lolia O. and My Fergus. At the turn for home Schaefer lashed War Plane several times and the gelding closed fast to take the purse. Sylvester W. Labrot's Westivity outlasted J. B. Belk's Flaming Mamie for the place.

Huon Joy Easy Winner In Jumping Race.

The Patapasco Steeplechase, first jumping test of the year found J. Bosley, jr.'s Huon Joy, perfectly ridden by Frankie Slate, winning to pay $53.30.

Slate broke his mount fast, but took him back to fifth position for a mile where he again moved up to be leading at the mile and three-quarters. He then came on to a handy score over Nat Clyman, owned and ridden by Mr. Rigan McKinney, well-known amateur rider. Third money went to F. Ambrose Clark's Knockling Tom. Of the 19 starters Attilla II was pulled up, Fichet lost his rider, while Sangamo and Bud Bud fell. However, none of the riders were hurt.

WORKMAN WINS BAREBACK FINISH

"Sonny" Workman is pictured riding Teach Me to a winning finish in the third race at Pimlico yesterday despite the fact that his saddle had slipped far back on the horse's haunches at the sixteenth pole. He beat Society Talk with McTaggart up, and how he finished without stirrups is plainly seen in the picture.

He responded full of courage when straightened out in home stretch and was under restraint all last sixteenth. WESTIVITY finished gamely under punishment, wore LOUIS O. down and lasted long enough to stand off FLAMING MAMIE'S challenge at end. Latter was going the strongest of lot at finish. LOUIS O. went to the front with a rush rounding far turn and looked to have his field soundly beaten. He curled up when winner challenged.

HAPPY SCOT raced on the outside of leaders to stretch turn, carried BARRIDO along at a rapid pace for five furlongs, drew away at top of stretch, but hung at end. Latter, steadied along early and saving ground at all stages, responded willingly to punishment and closed with good courage. DURVA kept forwardly placed, moved up when put to a drive and held on gamely.

WORKMAN IS BAREBACK WINNER

Applauded by Pimlico Fans in Brilliant Comeback Win.

Special to The Washington Post.

PIMLICO RACE TRACK, Md., April 28.—Jockey "Sonny" Workman, of Washington, D. C., received a hero's plaudits today in his comeback to the races after suffering a broken leg in a Florida spill, with a sensational finish in the third race in which he rode C. V. Whitney's Teach Me to a bareback victory after his saddle girths had slipped in the stretch run.

The courageous little Washington jockey broke the 2-year-old filly ahead of her field, but was soon joined by Society Talk with McTaggart up. When the latter tried to slip through on the rail she bumped Teach Me, knocking Workman's saddle loose.

Applies Whip After Righting Himself.

At the sixteenth pole Teach Me's saddle had slipped far back on her haunches and Workman was riding bare back after almost falling from his mount. He righted himself, however, and then applied his whip in courageous fashion, striving the while to maintain his seat. He crossed the finish line a half length in advance, well in command of the situation.

The fans gave the jockey a vast ovation for his courageous ride as he came back to the scales after one of the most brilliant efforts any rider has ever shown at this historic course.

PIMLICO, Md., April 28—Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney's Equipoise, favorite for both the Preakness and Kentucky Derby, arrived here shortly after noon today.

Trainer Freddie Hopkins brought the chestnut son of Pennant and Swinging down from Havre de Grace by van.

Hopkins states that the attack of azoturia, which caused the colt to be a distant trailer in the Chesapeake States last Saturday, seems to have entirely disappeared and he will ask him for a speed test within a few days in an effort to decide whether he will go in the Preakness on May 9, or be reserved for the $50,000 Kentucky Derby on May 16 at Louisville, Ky.

The charity days at Bowie, Havre de Grace and here have netted Maryland's unemployment fund around $70,000. The sum would have reached $100,000 had not the Maryland Racing Commission insisted on taking 8 per cent out of all pools. This scared off the big bettors.

Louis Leith, of Virginia, sent word to Race Secretary Edward J. Brennan that he is shipping three horses to Hagerstown, which opens May 12.

Today's steeplechase, the first of the year, saw a record field going postward. Amateur and professional riders clashed.

Jockey R. Morrison, who has been ill for several days, resumed riding today.

Secretary-General Manager Matthias L. Daiger of the Maryland Jockey Club, today gave out the following statement regarding the money raised yesterday for Maryland's unemployment fund.

Receipts	$44,780.22
Expenses	33,054.80
Net profit	$11,725.92

Totem Selected to Land Feature at Pimlico Today

By J. B. SNODGRASS.

BALTIMORE, Md., April 28.—Seven sprinters, aged 3 years and over, are entered in the Lord Baltimore Handicap, which will feature a well-balanced program at Pimlico tomorrow. The feature will be decided over the six furlong route.

Cornelius V. Whitney's TOTEM, which raced well up with top notch juveniles last year, may make his 3-year-old bow in the Lord Baltimore. The colt trained well, according to friends of Thomas Healey, and with a feather of 100 pounds on his back, may get up to earn first money.

THE HEATHEN shapes up as the horse to beat. Donacona's son must give TOTEM 25 pounds. We doubt if he can do it, because his last three Maryland races left the impression he isn't the good sprinter now that he was last year. LADY CAPULET has had several chances with slower horses than she will meet in the Lord Baltimore. Nevertheless, she figures to hold SIR JAMES, GOLDEN PRINCE and ANNIMESSIC safe.

ANNISMESSIC, a son of Traumer and Lazuli and half brother to J. Fred A. and Glen Wild, is a new one. He will sport the silks of his breeder, Dr. J. Fred Adams, who nominated the colt for the Preakness.

FIRST RACE—JIB BOOM is taken to win the Gun Powder, which will be the opening number. The Greentree stable colt was a good second to Misty in a swiftly run race at Havre de Grace last Friday. SEMESTER was far back his last out, but that wasn't his race. He was shuffled back soon after the break. TROMBONE is a well-bred son of St. James and Overture and he will sport the C. V. Whitney silks. He doesn't have to be a first flight colt to be third in this contest.

FRIDAY'S GAME.

Western vs. Business.

By BOB CONSIDINE.

ONE big inning, the third, enabled Eastern High to eke out a victory over Tech yesterday at Eastern Field, by the score, 3-to-2. It was the most civilized game the high school series has produced. Good pitching, a minimum of errors, clean hits and a turnout of scholastic fans to the number of 1,200 were the order of the day, despite a violent gale.

The win gives Eastern a half-interest in first place of the series race, with two victories and no defeats. Central owns the rest of the stock in top rung preferred. For Tech it meant the doom of any championship vistas its players might have envisioned.

Calevas' Hit Opens Eastern Rally.

Eastern scored its victorious total off Everett Russell after two were out in the third inning. Calevas singled to center to start the belated and fatal rally. Kessler doubled to right center, scoring Calevas. McAboy stung a single through Levy and Benner, scoring Kessler. When Taylor singled to right, McAboy loped in and the damage was done.

But for one little wanting iota of hitting strength Tech would have won the game and changed the whole complexion of the 1931 series. Placing runners on the bags in the eighth and ninth innings, Tech failed to capitalize its breaks, as subsequent batters were unable to connect solidly with Noonan's offerings.

Nau's double to the right-center wall, with one out in the ninth, loomed big on Tech's horizon. Noonan walked Weitman, but Snyder, Eastern's all-high catcher, made a miraculous catch of Wills' skyscraper. Noonan finished the game by sneaking a wide outdrop across the pan for the third strike on English.

Good Pitching On Display.

It was a well-pitched game throughout. Both hurling selections were obvious bits of master-minding on the parts of Coaches Guyon and Edwards. Neither was slated to start, and both turned in more than presentable jobs to boot. Tech, through the work of Nau, Benner and Crenshaw, managed to outhit the winners by the count of 7-6. Tech's run in the fourth was the result of a pass issued to English and Nau's single to right center. The other Tech run came about after a flurry of hits in the sixth, in which Benner and Nau singled and Crenshaw doubled.

Roberson Yields But 5 Hits to Hold D. C. Nine in Check.

Special to The Washington Post.

BALLSTON, Va., April 28.—Setting down their stickmen to five hits, Lefty Roberson, Washington-Lee High's speedball moundsman, led his team to a 12-4 victory over Western High here today. It was Roberson's second win over a District high school team, the big portsider having trimmed Eastern two weeks ago.

The Little Generals ably backed up Roberson's flinging by pasting Clark pretty much at will. Fourteen safeties in all were batted off Clark's offerings, with Chase, stellar catcher of the winners, connecting safely in four times out of five at bat.

Western spurted belatedly in their half of the ninth, when a pass and a brace of singles sent two runs across the plate, but Roberson tightened in good order to squelch the uprising.

Randolph-Macon Easy For William-Mary

Special to The Washington Post.

Williamsburg, Va., April 28.—William and Mary defeated Randolph-Macon on the diamond here today, 13 to 0. Seventeen hits by the Indians coupled with numerous errors by the Yellow Jackets enabled William and Mary to score in practically every inning.

Besides pitching shutout ball Sundin struck out nine men and contributed three hits to his team's total.

Taylor, pitching for Randolph-Macon was relieved in the sixth by Redd. Scott's double was the only extra base hit of the game.

Devitt Prep Tossers No Match for Central

Central High had little trouble yesterday in turning in a 10-3 victory over a hastily-formed Devitt Prep team in a seven-inning contest played at Central Stadium, and featured by a multitude of errors.

Two big innings gave Central its wide margin, the Blue and White scoring three runs in the fourth, and five in the sixth.

Rousseau, Devitt pitcher, turned in a good performance, and with a little more backing might have made great headway against Central. He struck out ten.

ELON BEATS V. P. I. IN TENTH

Scores Winning Run on Squeeze Play Cop, 7 to 6.

Special to The Washington Post.

BLACKSBURG, Va., April 28.—A perfect squeeze play by Elon's Nine in the tenth inning defeated V. P. I., 7 to 6, in the first of a two-day stand against the Carolinians in Miles Stadium. Poly jumped into a three-run lead in the second inning on hits by Murden, Palmer and Anderson, coupled with fast base-running tactics, but timely bingles, coupled with a pair of wild heaves by Poly infielders, put the visitors on even terms in the seventh.

The Gobblers made a great effort to win in the ninth when Coach Kircher used his pinch hitters, but two runners were left stranded when Nicholas flied out to center field.

Reggie Mapp, ace of Poly's pitching staff, relieved Murden in the tenth and allowed one scratch infield hit, yet lost the game. Clark placed a bunt down the third base line, stole second, advanced on a passed ball, and scored when Gordon placed a perfect bunt to the box.

Davidson Racqueters Win to Mar V. P. I. Slate

Special to The Washington Post.

Blacksburg, Va., April 28.—Davidson's strong double combinations won two of their three matches to break a 3-to-3 deadlock and smash the V. P. I. racqueters perfect record here today by a 5-to-4 decision. Jack Chapman, displaying his best form of the season, met heavy opposition in Dubose, Wild Cat No. 1 man. The first two sets were split, and in the play-off Dubose was leading, 3 to 1, when the Gobbler changed his tactics and overhauled his opponent by a great game at the net. The Davidson doubles teams decided the meet.

Although the men seemed evenly matched, their superior team work undoubtedly won for the Wild Cats. Capt. Wood won both his doubles and singles contests to keep an untarnished record for the year.

SINGLES—Chapman (Tech) defeated Dubose, 3—6, 6—2, 9—7; McLean (Davidson) defeated Vaughn, 7—5, 6—2; Capt. Wood (Tech) defeated Rodder, 6—0, 6—3; Cevarich (Tech) defeated Calder, 8—6, 6—3; Poe (Davidson) defeated Parker, 6—3, 6—2; Myers (Davidson) defeated Bridgeforth, 6—1, 3—6, 6—3.

DOUBLES—Dubose and Calder (Davidson) defeated Chapman and Vaughn, 6—4, 6—4; Wood and Parker (Tech) defeated Poe and Rodder, 9—7, 3—6, 6—3; McLean and Myers (Davidson) defeated Bridgeforth and Cevarich, 6—2, 6—2.

BRITISH GOLF STAR WINS, 2 AND 1

Perkins Extended by W.-L. Entry in Old Dominion Play.

HOT SPRINGS, Va., April 28 (A.P.).—T. Phillip Perkins, former British amateur champion and low medalist in the Old Dominion golf tournament, was pressed hard in his first match today by Samuel E. Corwin, of the Country Club of Virginia, Richmond, winning 2 and 1 on the seventeenth green.

Corwin, a Washington and Lee student, fought a spectacular battle against Perkins, scoring two birdies and putting phenominally to match strokes on the first nine and turn all even. Perkins got the lead for the first time at the tenth, when he laid a long iron dead to the pin, but Corwin retaliated on the next hole by sinking a 40-foot putt for a deuce. Perkins won the fourteenth and fifteenth and won by halving the next two holes.

Mid-Atlantic Champ Shoots at 75.

Billy Howell, of Richmond, Middle Atlantic champion, who had trouble with the wind in the qualifying round, was in form today and shot a fine 75 to defeat Jack Guggenheim, of San Antonio, 6 and 5.

C. G. Littrell, of Chicago, defeated J. M. Robeson, of Chicago, one up.

E. H. Bobbitt, of Hot Springs, won from E. R. Scales, of Louisville, Ky., 5 and 4.

St. Albans, G. U. Prep End in 12-Inning Draw

Quite in keeping with the meanders of major league baseball, the Georgetown Prep and St. Alban's Nines went through a 12-inning game yesterday at St. Alban's, with the result standing 6 to 6 when darkness called a halt to all proceedings.

Trailing by the score of 6 to 3 in their half of the ninth inning, the Prepmen tied up the count by banging 3 runs across the plate.

Play in the last three innings was acute. St. Alban's runners being twice cut down at the plate.

Cambria Is Part-Time Pilot for Hagerstown

Martinsburg, W. Va., April 28.—Joe Cambria, Baltimorean owner of the Hagerstown Club of the Middle Atlantic League, will be a part-time mangaer of the club, having it in charge for all home games, while Tony Citrano, veteran infielder and once a member of the Baltimore Orioles, will be the boss when the Hubs are on the road. Cambria made this announcement here, where he came to inform local moguls that he had decided to operate his team solely in Hagerstown instead of as a Hagerstown-Martinsburg entry.

Cambria said Citrano had been signed as a playing manager and would most likely hold down an infield position at least during a great many games. On the road he will be in complete charge of the club and his advice will also be sought by Cambria at games in Hagerstown, the Hubs' owner said.

Citrano has had much experience in minor league and independent baseball. Years ago he was a star allround athlete at Mount St. Joseph's College, Irvington, Md., and subsequently played in several loops in the South. His experience with the Orioles was several years ago.

Virginia Beats N. C. S. For First League Win

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., April 28.—Defeating North Carolina State here today, 6 to 1, Virginia's nine won its first Tri-State League game.

Leo Fred, Brooklyn lad, twirling his first full game, held the Carolinians to three scattered hits. He walked the first two batsmen in the ninth; and the first scored on Wood's single.

The Cavaliers collected nine hits off of two Wolf Pack pitchers. Poss had a perfect day at bat, one of his hits being a three-bagger.

Running catches by Brewer and Pinder were the fielding features.

PREP MIDGETS WIN.

The Georgetown Prep Midgets took a 5-4 decision over the Friends Midgets yesterday afternoon at Garrett Park in a seven-inning game marked by good pitching on the part of the several hurlers who saw service on the mound.

A three-run lead, garnered in the first inning, gave Georgetown the victory.

Keating was the star of the proceedings, pitching well in a relief role and knocking a triple. He retired the last three Friends batters by the strikeout route.

OLD LINE CUB NINE WINS 5 IN ROW

Again Downs Hyattsville High by 10-5 Score.

UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND Freshmen rang up their fifth win in as many starts yesterday afternoon at College Park when they triumphed, 10 to 5, over the Hyattsville High nine. It was the Old Line Cubs' second victory over Hyattsville this season. The contest was called after the eighth inning by agreement.

Maryland used three pitchers, off the collective efforts of whom the Scholastics were able to gather only five bingles. Ray Davidson, White and Ruble were the Old Line flingers.

Poor Support Handicap To Peffer.

Peffer went the route for Hyattsville, allowing ten hits and pasaing two. He was handicapped by erratic support, his teammates committing eight errors.

The Old Liners scored twice in the first inning to take the lead, which they never relinquished. They added three in the second, two in the fifth and three in the seventh. Hyattsville counted two of their five runs in the third, one in the fourth and two in the seventh.

Willie Wolfe, Old Line second-sacker, led both teams at bat, gathering three singles in four times at bat. Spencer Chase hit a double and a single in two attempts, while Benner, of Maryland, and Peffer, of Hyattsville, hit safely twice.

Baseball Officials At Herrmann Rites

Cincinnati, April 28 (A.P.).—August "Garry" Herrmann, whose baseball diplomacy cemented lasting friendship between the National and American Leagues in 1903, was buried today. Herrmann, for 15 years chairman of the old National Baseball Commission, which until 1920 was the ruling power of professional baseball, died Saturday after a long illness. He also was president of the Cincinnati Reds for twenty-five years.

John A. Heydler, president of the National League; John K. Tener, former Governor of Pennsylvania and one time head of the older major circuit; Charles Stoneham, president of the New York Giants; William Veeck, president of the Chicago Cubs; Sidney Weil, president of the Cincinnati Reds; Dan Howley, Reds' manager, and several Chicago and Cincinnati players were among baseball men who attended the funeral. Every major league team sent a floral tribute.

Today's game between the Cubs and Reds was canceled in respect to his memory.

Funeral services were held in the Elks' Temple, of which organization Herrmann was a past grand exalted ruler. Bruce A. Campbell, East St. Louis, another past grand exalted ruler, delivered the fraternal eulogy.

A Masonic Scottish Rite ring service also was conducted.

STOCKS UNSETTLED WITH LIGHT SALES

2,900,000 Shares Are Dealt In During Day; Steels Lead Rally.

New York, April 28 (A.P.).—Although the stock market was quieter today, it contained enough air pockets to keep sentiment in a highly unsettled state and the tone was heavy. Sales were 2,900,000 shares against 3,600,000 on Monday.

Steels led a rally in the last hour, as they frequently do just before a quarterly meeting of the U. S. Steel Corporation directors, but the improvement lost weight when fresh selling struck the chemicals in the final transactions. The composite price of 90 issues closed at 116.5, off seven-tenths of a point, and a new low for the year. Both the industrials and rails used in this average are under their December minimums, but utilities hold well above.

The U. S. Steel management did the expected by declaring the regular dividend on the common, but Wall street was somewhat surprised by the dip into surplus necessary to meet the payment. Earnings of 5 cents a share for the junior stock compared with informal estimates of 25 to 50 cents, although some of these had taken into account a possible apportionment of nonoperating income. However, no item of that sort was included and the report contained only results from operations.

Steel Figures in Rally.

Steel common was prominent in the rally, more than recovering an earlier 2-point break, a decline which had been equaled or exceeded by other leading shares, but the industrial leader sagged again at the close and finished ¼ net lower. Chemicals were hard pressed. Allied dropped 10 points, reflecting partly a shift in holdings of the shares, reduced its loss to 5, and then closed 7¼ lower. Union Carbide broke more than 4, Columbian Carbon nearly as much and Air Reduction and Du Pont about 2 each.

Sentiment toward the rails seemed to have been bolstered by the marked upturn in March earnings, although there was notable weakness in such important issues as Pennsylvania and Norfolk & Western. However, New York Central, Union Pacific and Atchison closed higher and Illinois Central rallied 2 points when the dividend reduction was announced.

Changes in the utilities were fairly narrow. Oils closed steady, Standard of California making up a 3 point loss. New Jersey gained a point.

Transamerica Is Active.

One of the most active stocks was Transamerica, which had the unusually wide break of 2⅝ to a price of 7¼ under liquidation here and from the Pacific Coast. The loss was reduced 1½ by a late rally. Asset value of the big holding company has been cut by the general decline in security prices, a difficulty which it shares with other investment holding companies. Transamerica's decline caused some comment as to its availability as loan collateral, but banks explained that the old rule which frowned on stocks selling under $10 had been modified and that individual situations were considered.

Federal Reserve member bank loans on securities dropped $52,000,000 in the last week and are now $1,800,000,000 lower than a year ago, measuring the extent to which banks have been able to induce liquidation of clients' borrowings on collateral. The substantial decline currently reported represents an important source of recent stock market selling.

Strength of sterling exchange against the French franc, as well as the dollar, strongly suggests the probability of gold shipments from Paris to London. Sterling's new 1931 high here today reflected the extreme ease of the New York money market and prospective withdrawals from Britain's reserve here. Other foriegn currencies were steady to firm.

Commodities were irregular. Wheat made nominal net gains, assisted by bullish Kansas reports and firm Winnipeg quotations. May corn was off more than a cent and December rose slightly; other months were ¼ to ½ cent lower. Cotton closed almost unchanged.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, April 28 (A.P.).—Persistent abnormally dry weather throughout the American spring crop territory, Canada in particular, strengthened wheat prices today, whereas corn tended to sag. Wheat holders were also encouraged by notice that France would hereafter allow an additional 5 per cent admixture of foreign wheat, making the total 25 per cent.

Corn was weakened on account of slackness of prospective big increase of corn acreage this season.

Wheat closed firm, a shade to ⅜ cents up, corn at ⅜ to ⅝ decline, oats ⅛ lower to ⅛ higher, and provisions showing 5 to 7 cents setback.

Canadian drought reports laid special emphasis on seeding delays and soil drifting. A comprehensive summary from railroad sources indicated that Saskatchewan Province, Canada, had seeded only 12 per cent of wheat land for this year, against 38 per cent a year ago, and Alberta Province but 12 per cent compared with 45 per cent. In this connection significance was attached to the fact that the Winnipeg market showed almost continuously firm tone relative to Chicago. Adding to the unfavorable effect of larger imports of foreign wheat likely to be imported by France were advices also of probable reduction of wheat import duties in Germany.

Partly offsetting bullish reports about the North American spring wheat crop look and European crop supply conditions were extremely bearish advices concerning domestic winter wheat. There were simultaneous reports, however, from winter wheat States southwest, noting unusually small stocks of wheat back on farms and in country mills. The inference was drawn by trade authorities that empty storage room on farms and in mills Southwest more ample than for many years would make possible extensive holdings of new wheat. Despite reports that transatlantic stocks of wheat were generally meager, fresh export business in North American wheat lacked volume, totaling but 300,000 bushels, all of it Canadian.

Weather conditions were reported auspicious over the corn belt, with seed beds in excellent shape, and planting expected to make rapid progress. Oats fluctuated chiefly with corn.

Provisions reluctantly went lower with hog values.

FOREIGN BONDS LEAD MARKET IN SLUMP

Losses in Price Are General With New Low Sales in Domestics.

New York, April 28 (A.P.)—Weakness in bonds was most apparent today in the foreign loans, especially Latin-American issues.

The slump was general, however, and a number of new 1931 low prices were reached in domestic obligations. Average prices of industrial and railroad issues and the consolidated average for those groups and public utility bonds hit new bottom levels also.

The demand for Chilean obligations was limited as that group made the sharpest losses of the whole list, although the turnover in most of them was of ordinary proportions. The 7 per cent bonds of 1942 of the National Government made a perpendicular loss of 10 points and closed at a new low at 78. Other Chilean losses ranged from 2¼ to 7½ points. Obligations of the Argentine, Anitioquia, Montecatini, Montevideo, Minas Geraes and some bonds of the State of Sao Paulo made fairly sharp losses. Most other foreign bonds receded but the losses among them were much more moderate and a few issues even gained ground.

Loans of the United States Government were quiet until the afternoon, when trading spurted and the total sales of the group approximated $500,000. Closing prices were higher.

Industrial, public utility and railroad bonds receded in most instances but the declines in them usually consisted of fractions. Even issues of gilt edge standing exhibited declining tendencies at times. Great Northern 5½s of 1952, Erie Consolidated 4s, Detroit Edison Refunding 5s, American & Foreign Power 5s, American Telephone Collateral 5s, Baltimore & Ohio Refunding 5s, Brooklyn Manhattan 6s and St. Paul adjustment 5s made varying declines.

The actions of the foregoing group were significant for several reasons. Their diversification was indicative of the broad character of the movement. They were all active. A net loss of 3¾ points made by Baltimore & Ohio Refunding 5s, while some other issues of that carrier appreciated indicated pretty clearly that the market was thin.

A block of $2,560,000 or 3¼ and 3½ per cent bond of the City of Yonkers, N. Y., due from 1932 to 1946, is being offered to yield from 2 to 3.65 per cent.

COMBINED UTILITIES EARN $26,591,292

That Sum Goes to Common Shares After Deduction of All Charges.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

The consolidated income statement of North American Co. and subsidiaries, including Washington Railway & Electric and Potomac Electric Power companies for the twelve months ended March 31, 1931, shows $26,591,292.26 for common stock, after all operating expenses, interest charges, depreciation and all other reserves and preferred dividends.

These earnings represent a decrease of 4.66 per cent compared with those for the twelve months ended March 31, 1930, and an increase of 11.10 per cent compared with those for the twelve months ended March 31, 1929, and are equal to $4.35 per share on the average number of shares of North American common stock outstanding during the twelve months ended March 31, 1931, compared with $5.06 per share for the corresponding period ended March 31, 1930. Appropriations for depreciation reserves equal 10.74 per cent of gross earnings for the twelve months ended March 31, 1931, compared with 10.64 per cent for the 1930 corresponding period.

Gross earnings of $127,395,505.72 for the twelve months ended March 31, 1931 reflect the elimination for the last nine and one-half months of that period of gross earnings of the former California subsidiaries which were sold to Pacific Gas & Electric Co. on June 12, 1930. The increase in other net income reflects the inclusion for that period of dividends on the common stock received from Pacific Gas & Electric Co.

Pennsylvania's March Earnings.

Net railway operating income of the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. for March was $3,818,561, a decrease of $3,493,240 under the month a year ago. For the first three months of 1931 it was $9,309,004, or $10,626,032 behind the corresponding period last year.

Underground cable extensions to provide additional facilities in the Wesley Heights, Spring Valley and Potomac Heights area of the Cleveland central office were included in an appropriation authorized by the board of directors of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. at its regular monthly meeting held yesterday. This brings the total amount authorized for similar projects in the District of Columbia so far this year to $1,749,349.

Telephone revenues of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. of Baltimore City in March totaled $1,167,692, the report of operations just filed with the Maryland Public Service Commission shows. Expenses during the month were $907,647, making net telephone revenues $260,045.

Quarters Capital Outlay.

Capital expenditures for plant and equipment in Maryland for the first three months of the year amounted to $920,436. Gross retirements during this period were $622,908, making net additions $297,528.

Net addition to plant for the twelve months ended March 31 amounted to $2,195,949. There were 218 783 telephones in Maryland at the close of business March 31. This was a net gain for that month of 947 and for the first three months of the year of 2,535. Telephone users during the month made 26,480,000 calls.

CONDEMNATION SUIT JUDGES APPOINTED

Five Commissioners Are Named to Decide Value of Van Every Tract.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Rapid progress was made yesterday before Judge Walter T. McCarthy, in the condemnation suit filed by the State Highway Commission against Virginia Van Every, in which a 4.02 acre tract is being taken for the Lee boulevard.

Attorneys Emery N. Hosmer, of Arlington County, and Thomas H. Patterson of Washington, representing Virginia M. Van Every and F. Shields McCandlish, attorney for the highway commission, asked appointment of five commissioners to view the land and hear evidence of its value and damages and presented certain instructions to the commissioners.

The court appointed as commissioners O. Robert Howell, W. R. Rose, George A. Rucker, Harris A. Levy, and A. B. Honts and set May 9 for the day to view the land and hear evidence.

According to attorney Hosmer, it is expected that the highway commission will immediately proceed with construction of the boulevard through the Van Every property while the condemnation suit is brought to prompt conclusion.

A petition urging the board of supervisors to accept rights of ways for the proposed Washington street approach with the Arlington Memorial Bridge and to begin early construction was approved by the Lyon Village Citizens Association last night.

In connection with the proposal to have Rucker avenue serve as a link across Lyon Village, from Lee Highway to Wilson Boulevard, with the Washington avenue approach to the bridge, Monroe H. Stockett, chairman of the planning and zoning committee, suggested that Cherrydale avenue might be used to better advantage. The streets and sidewalks committee was instructed to investigate the proposal.

Mr. Anderson told of a cash donation offeffrffed in the name of Lyon & Fitch, looking to the improvement of Key Boulebard through the village, provided work is undertaken by the county before May 15. He also told of a petition to the board of supervisors being circulated for curbing along Key Boulevard.

The association will cooperate to the fullest extent with the Bicentennial Council looking to the beautification of various properties in and around the village.

The board of supervisors will meet today to determine on the budget for the year. The board has proposed an increase of five cents in the fire protection levy, which will be offset by a similar reduction in the amount for roads, thus assuring there will be no increase in the present tax rate.

According to E. J. Spaulding, chairman of the county Republican committee, the county convention will be held early in July.

The Progressive Women's Class of the Ballston Christian Church will hold a benefit luncheon today at the church from 11:30 to 1:30 o'clock.

Investigation of robbery of the Virginia Public Service Co. yesterday in the Spaulding Building at Clarendon, disclosed that efforts had been made to gain entrance to the offices of E. J. Spaulding, owner of the building.

The State Corporation Commission has granted a charter to the Stevens Memorial Cemetery Association, Inc., South Washington. The capital stock is $5,000. Joseph W. Wormley is president and Thomas N. Watson, attorney.

Hart Makes Ready For Academy Post

Will Succeed Robison as Superintendent; Plans Are Completed.

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., April 28.—Capt. Charles P. Snyder, acting superintendent of the Naval Academy, today completed plans for the formal transfer of command to Rear Admiral Thomas C. Hart on May 1.

Admiral Hart succeeds Rear Admiral Samuel H. Robison, who relinquished the post a few weeks ago, is now on leave and soon will be retired from all active duty. Admiral Robison reaches the age for retirement on May 10, but it is announced that his retirement will date officially from June 1.

Admiral Hart will assume duty at noon, May 1, and the occasion will be marked by a salute of 13 guns as his flag is raised to the masthead of the station ship Reina Mercedes. The regiment of midshipmen will be drawn up at attention along the terraces of Bancroft Hall, and the marine guard and academy band will be paraded. The corps of officers of the several academic departments also will be on hand to meet the incoming chief.

Planes Will Greet College May Queen

William and Mary Festival Will Make Use of Jazz and Television.

Williamsburg, Va., April 28 (A.P.).—William and Mary's May Day celebration this year will be extremely modern, employing the use of airplanes, radio, television and jazz.

The celebration, May 7, will include the presentation of novelty acts for the entertainment of the Queen of May by students who are to represent delegations from the various large cities of the continent. Their arrival will be heralded by a squadron of airplanes flown by student pilots, J. A. C. Chandler, jr., son of President Chandler; Yel Kent, Hugh Kissler and Collins Vance.

The queen, elected several days ago, will not be announced until the opening of the program. The program will include an aeroplane dance, dolls' parade, the coquette, a grotesque, pirate band serenade, jumping jack jubilee, clown dance and a jazz baby party.

FIREMEN WATCH DUST EXPLOSION TESTS

'DUST' EXPLOSION BREAKS WINDOWS

Experiment Shows Mixture Found in Buildings Has Devastating Force.

Bang! Windows of a little house on the Arlington Experimental Farm were smashed to cinders. "Dynamite?" inquired a bystander. "No, dust," was the response. "Plain, everyday dust."

Certain kinds of dust mixed with other certain kinds will explode, it appears. Beware, housewives, and remember those twins of auriferous descent. Dust can explode, like dynamite. The Department of Agriculture, desiring to prove this dangerous power of the enemy of vacuum cleaners, yesterday morning invited Washington firemen and officials of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad to watch the demonstration.

The "charge" consisted of a quantity of powdered corn starch, grain dust, powdered cork and pulverized aluminum. Windows of the house erected for the test were blown out, a tongue of flame 25 feet in length shot out at photographers and spectators were sprayed with broken bits of glass.

The purpose of the demonstration was to illustrate the advisability of equipping factories, grain elevators and similar places with adequate venting facilities to serve as "safety valves" in explosions. Great havoc might result if the explosive power of dust is not permitted to escape through windows, according to David J. Price, engineer in charge of the experiments. He said there are 28,000 industrial plants subject to dust hazards. There is only an iota of danger of the explosions occurring in the average home, Mr. Price said, as such places are usually well ventilated and regularly dusted, he pointed out.

Loudoun Tax Levy Reduced by Board

Appeals of School Body and Farmers Headed by Supervisors.

Special to The Washington Post.

Leesburg, Va., April 28.—Declaring they were unable to meet the county school levy as proposed by the school board, although it had been cut 5 cents on the $100 on account of economic conditions resulting from the recent drought, farmers of Loudoun County today appeared before the board of supervisors in regular session here and appealed for the 5 cent additional reduction recently proposed by the supervisors.

Appeals were also made by Superintendent of Schools O. L. Emerick, Mrs. Emile Windle, rural supervisor, representatives of the Loudoun County Education Association, representatives of the community leagues and others.

The board of supervisors, after listening to these appeals, adopted the budget making the county school levy 80 cents on the $100 and also reduced the county levy to 35 cents, lowering it 10 cents; district road levies were all fixed at 40 cents.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

ELMER TWITCHELL INVITES ALFONSO TO THE U. S.

DEAR ALFONSO:

I see where you are thinking of coming to the United States, this being your first real vacation since you first became a king, and I am dropping you a few lines to express the opinion that you would like it over here very much. According to reports, you are somewhat flat financially, but that is true of everybody this season and anyhow in the United States any of our smart hotels would give you and the queen room and board free, just for the publicity they would get out of it. Russian former dukes, Roumanian princes and Chinese generals have been overdone here and will not get a hotel a line in the American newspapers, but a former king and queen red-hot from the throne would be a big novelty in this country.

* * * *

I think you would be happy here. I understand you like to race around in high-powered automobiles. Well, our country would be apple pie for you. You won't know what fast driving is until you visit America and try to cross a street on foot. I hear you like polo ponies, too, and I guess you would find plenty of amusement in that line in our country. The first thing an American does these days when he gets rich and wants to crash society is to buy a stable of polo ponies and as very few of them can ride the ponies they would be glad to let a king like you come out and have the run of the stable. In fact, you would be deluged with invitations from the Long Island smart set.

* * * *

(These people are retrenching these days and aren't as liberal with the guest rooms as they were in the boom days, but they will go for a king in a big way, I am sure.)

* * * *

I THINK you would like Hollywood and I know you could make plenty of money in the films. The actors they have cast for royalty roles out there look like subway guards and the audience knows at a glance that the actors who play kings on the screen never got any nearer a palace than the royal dog house. Hollywood needs an actor who looks like a king, and you would fill the bill.

* * * *

The queen would like it over here, too, I am certain. Somehow, I have a feeling that if the queen never saw Spain again it would be too soon.

* * * *

If it is true that you are short of money, America is the place for you. The money you could get merely for indorsing cigarettes, shaving creams and iron tonics would knock your eye out, and the queen could make a clean-up signing testimonials for house furniture, mattresses, facial creams and salad oils. Of course, maybe you and the queen would not like to do these things, but it is being done by our best people and I mention it as a possible solution of financial troubles.

* * * *

However, I am sure you would get a great welcome in the United States and that you would have the time of your life. There is nothing to be nervous about. I give you my word that while more shooting goes on in an American metropolis every day than occurred in the entire Spanish revolution, you are popular over here and would be safe.

Extending you a cordial welcome, I am, yours truly,

ELMER TWITCHELL.

SONG FOR DAYLIGHT SAVING INAUGURAL.

PUSH back the clock, dear father,
Obey the custom quaint,
So when we look the time will
Be something that it ain't.

Turn back the hands, oh daddy,
As every spring you do
So when it's 3 tomorrow
It won't be after 2.

It is a jolly custom
For which we're very strong
Because it's most diverting
To know the right time's wrong.

With the advent of daylight saving the golfer's wife plans on a 9 o'clock dinner, the trout fisherman's bride knows that when he says he will fish until sunset he will be out most of the night, and the man who asks the gang over for a poker game knows very well he won't even get the chips distributed much before 10 p. m.

FARM GROUP VOTES TO CHANGE ITS NAME

Centerville Grange Decides on "Providence" as New Designation.

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST,
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Clarendon 2324-W-2.

The Centreville Grange of Oakton voted to change its name to Providence Grange as the word Centreville was believed to be misleading inasmuch as the grande does not meet at Centreville any longer, but at Oakton. The names of Fairfax and Oakton were considered, but neither were thought to be appropriate as the membership of the grange is drawn from four magistrial districts and many scattered counties.

On the suggestion of E. D. Vosbury, lecturer of the local grange, it was decided to perfect plans for a county-wide grange spelling bee modeled after the old-fashioned spelling bees. The grande appointed C. C. Carr to present the question to the other granges at the meeting of the Fairfax County Pomona Grange. Under the plan evolved by the Centreville Grange each of the five subordinate granges of the county will hold a spelling bee among its own members and will select a team to represent it in the county finals.

A special committee composed of Miss Sara E. Thomas, Mrs. George Miles and Mrs. M. D. Hall to assist Miss Gladys Winfield and Miss Ludema Sayre in establishing a grange women's cooperative market at the home of Miss Winfield, on the Lee highway, near Fairfax. All kinds of produce will be accepted for sale at this market, which will feature county dinners and Guernsey milk products. No man raised produces will be accepted for sale.

Miss Sayre gave a talk on the plans for the George Washington Bicentennial celebration next year, stressing the part which the granges can play.

Paul Nunn, 29, and John Cole, of Calypso, N. C., were injured early yesterday morning near Pohick Church, on the Washington Richmond highway, when their truck loaded with chickens and eggs left the highway to avoid hitting an automobile which pulled out from a side road. The men were taken to the Alexandria Hospital for treatment.

Willis Henderson, giving his address as route 3, Fairfax, Va., was arrested near Alexandria by Fairfax County Policeman Lewis L. Finks, who charged him with operating a motorcycle on revoked tags and revoked driver's permit. He was taken before Justice of the Peace John B. Dowden, at Baileys Cross Roads, and fined $10 and costs on the charges.

The arrest was the result of a bulliten sent throughout the State by the director of motor vehicles in Richmond, which stated that Henderson, while living in Wilmington, Del., had been convicted of operating a motorcycle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, but had left the State before his license could be revoked, and it was believed that he was living somewhere near Fairfax. The license tags and permit called for in the bulletin were taken from Henderson when he was arrested yesterday and will be returned to the Delaware officials, as requested.

County Agricultural Agent H. B. Derr announced yesterday that a meeting of citizens of Fairfax County interested in the farm, yard and garden contest will be held in the Fairfax courthouse next Saturday evening, at 8 o'clock. The details concerning the two silver cups, which are to be presented by the Washington Bicentennial garden committee to the communities making the greatest and most attractive improvements during the ensuing year, will be explained.

The Fairfax District Council, Daughters of America, will hold its meeting this evening in Alexandria as guests of the Mary Washington Council. The Fairfax County chapters of the organization have planned to send large delegations to the meeting.

A branch of the Young Women's Christian Association has been organized in the Franconia community. Miss Elizabeth Martin has been named president; Miss Mary Ogden, vice president; Miss Blanche Kitson, secretary; Miss Florence Lyles, treasurer, and Mrs. Cassie Smith, councilor. Mrs. J. E. Young, the young people's director of the Potomac Association Y. W. C. A., attended the meeting and assisted in forming the organization. The next regular meeting of the Franconia branch will be held at the home of Mrs. Cassie Smith on May 4.

Approximately 200 acres of wood land between Baileys Cross Roads and Alexandria were burned over yesterday afternoon. This is one of a number of serious forest fires which have occurred in this vicinity during the last two weeks. A large crew of men under the direction of the Fairfax County wardens fought the stubborn blaze from shortly after noon until dusk before they succeeded bringing it under control. Several homes lay in the path of the fire and were endangered. They were saved by the fighters back firing around the various premises.

Markers on the graves of Moses and Aaron Wyckliffe, revolutionary soldiers, will be unveiled Sunday afternoon at 3 oo'clock by the Fairfax County Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. The graves are located on the old Kincheloe homestead, which is about 2 miles southwest of Clifton Station, and is now owned by W. B. Doak. Appropriate ceremonies have been planned for the occasion.

The Rev. Royal A. Rice, pastor of the Southern Methodist Church, at Fairfax, in answer to many requests, will repeat his illustrated lecture at 8 o'clock this evening in the Fairfax Methodist Church. The lecture, "Dream Pictures," is a tour through the national parks and byways of the Western United States. Mr. Rice plans to present twenty new pictures during his lecture this evening.

The northern Virginia bicentennial coordinating committee will hold its meeting this evening in the auditorium of the Madison School, on Washington street in the town of Falls Church. Because of a misunderstanding in sending out the notices for last week's meeting not all the Fairfax County members were notified in time to attend. At this evening's meeting permanent officers of the committee will be elected. Each of the four jurisdictions will be represented by eleven members, instead of seven as originally planned.

Water will be supplied by the Suburban Sanitary Commission under an extension of the sanitary area authorized by the recent legislature.

CHARGE DATA ASKED IN PRINCE GEORGES

Constable's Attorney Seeks Particulars Filed in Client's Indictment.

State Senator Lansdale G. Sasscere, attorney for Constable Earl Blackwell, of Capitol Heights, yesterday filed with the Prince Georges County circuit court a petition for a bill of particulars of the charges of malfeasance placed against Blackwell by the recent grand jury.

Blackwell admits that he allowed a woman prisonere eto sit in his office until bond could be arranged, rather than put her in the jail, where she would be in a cell with three colored womene. This is said to be the basis of the charges against him.

The bill of particulars asks that the State show a copy of the commitment papers said to have been made out for the woman, and asks for the exact language used by Blackwell in making the "false representations" which are alleegd. It also requests the State to list the acts constituting the alleged "unlawful taking" of the woman from the jail.

Attorney Frank Hall filed a similar request for his client, Joseph Artini, charged with false pretenses on the complaint of Carson E. Culver. The indictment against Artini, who lives in Capitol Heights, only states that he tok $55 from Culver under false pretenses. Hall wants a fuller explanation of the charges.

The Prince Georges County commissioners yesterday approved the change in zoning of the Stewart property in Beltsville from residential to commercial, to allow for the erection of a sandwich shop. J. C. Stewart, owner of the property, has a filling station on the plot now, and wants to add to it on another lot which has 120-foot frontage on the boulevard. The commissioners also issued a permit for Mr. Stewart to build tourist cabins on more land which he owns near his present holdings.

A road examining committee was appointed to study the need for a county road from the Largo road at Cheverly across to the Defense highway. The committee consists of Henry A. Friday, John Fink, and D. H. Donaldson. Omar C. Strawn was appointed permanent road supervisor for Lanham district.

Charging infidelity, Joseph Vincent Heany yesterday filed suit for absolute divorce from Ethel C. Heany. In his bill, the man states that he married the woman in February, 1924, and that they have no children. The alleged unfaithfulness has gone on, he says, since April of last year. Attorney Hampton Magruder appears for him.

Beautification of Prince Georges County highways for the George Washington bicentennial in 1932 has been indorsed by the Chamber of Commerce of Hyattsville, which heard Mark M. Shoemaker outline the plans. The committee on Roads, Parks and Lights, headed by Daniel Cox Fahey, jr., was instructed to cooperate with the community council and other bodies interested in the movement.

This committee will also consider the question of development of parks and the improvement of the high school athletic field. They will report on the park question at their next meeting, but no date has been set for acion on the other improvement.

The Public Utilities Commission was ordered to study the proposed amalgamation of hte Hyattsville and Silver Spring telephone exchanges with the Washington office. Mr. R. W. McCullough brought this matter to the attention of the chamber.

An invitation for the chamber to participate in the industrial show to be held in the armory on June 4, 5 and 6 was issued by B. W. Anspon. There will be exhibits of county products.

DODD HOME ENTRY IS HELD UNLAWFUL

Alexandria Jury Holds That Warrant Was Changed; Suit Borne Out.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 388.

A jury in the Corporation Court found that the warrant in the case of Earl Dodd against Police Sergeant Edgar Sims and Lawrence Padgett and Policemen C. D. Curtis and Alli Jones had been changed to read 60 South Alfred street from 609 South Alfred street, thereby giving Mr. and Mrs. Dodd basis for a suit for unlawful entry.

On March 25 Earl Dodd and his wife, Mrs. Daisy Dodd, entered suit against the policeman in question for $5,000 damages for the alleged searching of their home, 607 South Alfred street, on Sunday, March 22, while Mr. Dodd was in church. Police claimed to have a search warrant and the Dodds claimed the warrant was for 609 South Alfred street, and that later, after the mistake in the premises was made, the reading of the warrant was changed to permit entry of their home.

The case yesterday before a jury was to determine if the number had been 609 and a change had been made which was found by the members of the jury to be the case. Attorney Frederick L. Flynn and W. Lindsey Carne represented the Dodd's.

James T. Patterson, 73 years old, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Jennie Taggart, 505 South Lee street. Funeral serevices will be held at 1 o'clock today from Demaine's chapel with burial in Prince William County.

Mr. Patterson is survived by his widow, Mrs. Martha Patterson; two daughters, Mrs. Taggart and Mrs. Nora Posey, of Indianhead, Md., and a son, Marshall Patterson. He was formerly of Agnesville, Prince William County.

Mrs. Georgianna Lash, widow of Joseph G. Lash, died yesterday morning at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Georgianna L. Cunningham, 906 Prince street, after a long illness. Mrs. Lash celebrated her ninty-first birthday April 6. She was a native of this city, being one of the few citizens who remained here during the period of the war between the States, and ministered to the Confederate soldiers who were billeted in her home at that tim. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. William Fleming, of Vallejo, Calif.

The home of A. W. Wiley, 1313 to the extent of about $600 early yesMount Vernon avenue, was damaged treday morning by fire of undetermined origin. The fire originated in the cellar and worked to the roof, and when Engine Company No. 2 arrived the family had just gotten out of the house.

The time set for the planting of a tree by the Washington Society of Alexandria on the lot of the first public school in this city, at Washington and Waife streets, has been announced at 3:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., April 28.—Mrs. Emma Belle Anderson, 88, heroine of Virginia Civil War battlefields, died today.

Left at her Columbia Furnace home with her mother and children after men of the family had gone into the Confederate Army, she, too, quit her home during the battle of New Market, and organized a little band of women and girls to nurse the wounded and dying. She performed similar services immediately after the battles of Fishers Hill and Cedar Creek.

Her husband, the late Daniel H. Anderson, wounded Confederate veteran, was a leather glove manufacturer, and for half a century rode horseback over Virginia and a dozen Southern States, taking orders for his factory products. She was a member of the Southern Methodist Church. Surviving are two sons, Morgan A. Anderson, here, and Arthur Anderson, Charlottesville, Va.

Prince William Tax Levy Set by Board

General Rate Fixed at $1.55 With Varying Special Assessments.

Special to The Washington Post.

Manassas, Va., April 28.—The Board of Supervisors of Prince William County met today and fixed the county and district tax levies for the years 1930-1931. The general county levy was set at $1.55, while the special district levies for schools, roads and other purposes varied, according to their several necessities, as outlined by the budget, which was approved several weeks ago.

Savings in taxes in the various districts will be as follows: Brentsville, with a district road levy of 25 cents, saves 10 cents over last year; Gainesville, which had a 30-cent levy last year for the district school bonds, will not be levied this year, due to pending litigation over the legality of the bond election; Coles District, with a road tax of 35 cents, saves 5 cents over the preceding year, while Occoquan District saves 5 cents on a levy for district road bonds, with an allotment of 10 cents. Capital in business will be taxed at 80 cents on the $100, all to be applied to the general county fund.

The county school levy was abolished at yesterday's meeting, and the board voted to appropriate out of the levy for county purposes the lump sum of $59,000.
